CD Director Commended

The selectmen have commended Civil Defense Director Burton Batcheller for his work in supervising that department.

Batcheller recently gave a report to the board, indicating the work he, and the men in his department are doing.

Among the most notable within recent months, of course, was the 48-hour program in which many local residents resided in a fallout shelter in simulated conditions at Andover High school.

The CD director informed the board that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is about to survey the new Public Safety Center as well as the addition to the West school, to authorize the buildings for additional fallout shelters for the town.

At present, the number of fallout shelters and the spaces available, exceeds Andover's population. They are stocked and ready to meet any disaster situation.

Batcheller asked the selectmen to take into consideration when planning the 1971 budget, the possible cost of $40,000 for properly equipping the CD unit in the public safety center. He said that this figure would be met by matching funds from the federal government.

The director said that he is currently working with other CD directors in the area in working out a disaster plan for the region.

He reported that the radio group, which meets weekly and has good attendance even during the current vacation period, was in need of an antenna hookup on the new safety center. He felt that there were sufficient funds to provide this facility.

Selectman Roger W. Collins expressed the appreciation of the board and the town to Batcheller for the work he is doing and continuing to improve the program here. He commended him, and had unanimous approval of his colleagues for his efforts in obtaining materials and equipment for Andover, through the civil defense program.

Attended Day Camp At Pomp's

The Girl Scout day camp on the shores of Pomp's Pond, known as Camp Merrymeeting opened its second session Monday, July 20 with 200 enrolled.

During the first session, activities involved in basic conservation practices such as pollution and nature studies along the pond's shore line kept the campers interested in current affairs.

Outstanding creations in burlap applique and in figures made of pebbles and rocks expressed the girls' artistic talents.

Leaf prints, work on Rambler Proficiency Badges, archery, outdoor living skills, overnights, and Red Cross swimming lessons completed the full schedule.

Attending the first session from Andover were Patricia Brown, Cheryl Davis, Jill Kennedy, Kathy Lyons, Gail Moonjian, Lindsay Mofford, Nancy Morrison, Laura Need, Karen Wilson, Belinda Winters, Jocelyn Wise, Sou Bourbeau, Wanda Croke, Patricia Davy, Melissa Erikson, Lorenda Fiske, Lynn Heinrich, Krista Hering, Elizabeth Hethey, Catherine Dembloski, Dorothy Fuchs, Heidi Smith, Jeanne Strzebewicz, Penny Michelle, Lisa Strzebewicz, Wanda Luther, Kim Retelle, Andrea Black, Jane Anthony, Roberta Perreault, Francesca Perreault, Thomas and Duncan Black, Laura Zollner, Elizabeth Pelc, Christina Mattsson, Ellen Korba, Jessica Goodwin, Cynthia Coombs.

Apartments Facing Problems

An apartment project proposed for Haverhill street, is running into problems even before it gets to the hearing stage before the Zoning Board of Appeals.

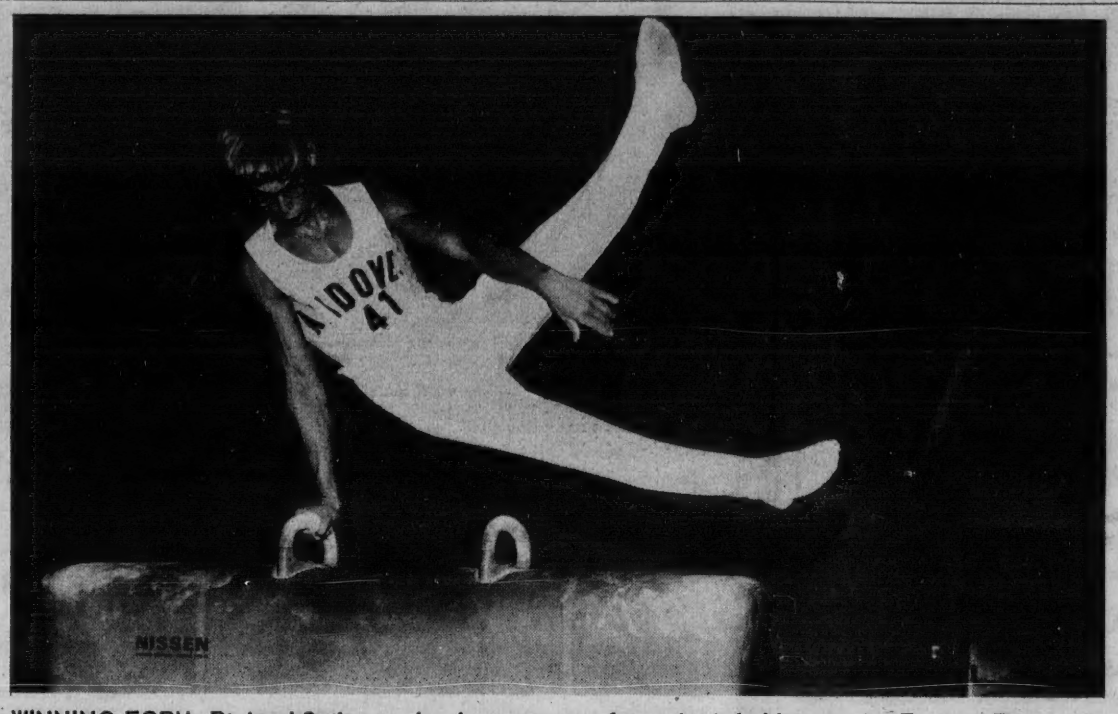

Angelo Cataldo, trustee of the Rose Cataldo Family Trust of Revere, has petitioned the board for a variance to allow construction of apartments for low-income or elderly families. The land is located off Haverhill street, adjacent to the North Andover line.

The hearing is scheduled for Aug. 6.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and Public Works Director Robert McQuade informed the selectmen this week that in view of the proposal, they felt obligated to inform the board the lack of adequate water supply for fire-fighting purposes in the area.

The manager felt the selectmen should take a stand on the matter in view of the substantial cost

WINNING FORM. Richard Seikunas displays winning form which led him to the Eastern Regional Olympic Championship this past week, making him eligible for national competition to be held in Knoxville, Tenn. Aug. 11-13.

Water Use Setting Records

Water consumption in Andover has reached new records and is averaging almost 500,000 gallons beyond the safe daily yield, according to Public Works Director Robert McQuade.

McQuade informed the selectmen this week, that a new record of 5,500,000 gallons of water was pumped through the system on Saturday, the most ever in the town's history.

He also informed the board that the system was averaging 3,000,000 gallons per day and that the safe daily yield is 2,500,000.

The average daily yield has increased by 370,000 gallons over the 1969 daily level.

The level of Haggett's pond, the town's main water supply, is currently down 23 inches and with the heat of the past week most assuredly will drop further.

No restrictions have, as yet, been placed on use of water lo-

In National Competition

Richard Seikunas won the eastern regional competition for the 15-18 year age group of the Junior Olympics Gymnastic Championships held Saturday, July 25, in Marblehead. Winners from the regional meets will compete in the National Junior Olympic Championships to be held on August 11, 12, and 13 at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

Seikunas, who was a co-captain of last year's Andover High School State Championship Gymnastic team, turned in the best performance of his career, scoring 49.0 in compulsory routines and 47.8 in his optional routines. Each competitor is required to "throw" twelve routines -- six compulsory and six optional.

Runner-up was Jay Whelan, the New Hampshire all-around gymnastic champion, who scored 89.1. The two boys split in first place medals for individual performances, Seikunas winning the rings, side horse, and parallel bar competition, and Whelan placing first in vaulting, floor exercises, and high bar. Seikunas' victory by a rather whopping 7.7 points was due to his extremely steady performances in both compulsories and optional routines. His lowest score of the day was a 7.2 out of a possible 10 points.

The Junior Olympic competition is sponsored by the Quaker Oats Company under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union. The meet simulates Olympic competition as nearly as possible. The national competition at the University of Tennessee will include competition in swimming, diving, track and field, as well as gymnastics. Competitors will be housed in an "Olympic Village" environment.

Through the SAC program sponsored by Andover's Recreation Department, Seikunas has been working out at Andover High school's gymnasium on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings, and he expressed appreciation that these facilities have been available. Finding a gymnasium is one of the big hazards of gymnastic competition. He has been working out in Wellesley's gym in their summer recreation program and at the Marblehead YMCA on days when the Andover High school gym is not available. He will be attending the University of Massachusetts this fall as a freshman, and plans to include a workout at the University in his training for the national meet.

Other winners of the day included: Wayne Chandler of Marblehead, 13-14 boys; Polly Della Dioia, Milford, Conn., 15-18 girls; and Cole Dowaliby, New Haven, Conn., 13-14 girls. The two girls are coached by Muriel Grosfield, a former Olympian. Mrs. Grosfield was the girls gymnastic coach at the Winter Olympics in Mexico City.

Warrant Dates Set

The warrant dates for the October special annual town meeting have been set by the selectmen.

The meeting is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 4.

The warrant will open Monday, Aug. 24 and close Friday, Aug. 28 at 4:30 p.m.

Articles may be submitted to the town clerk's office.

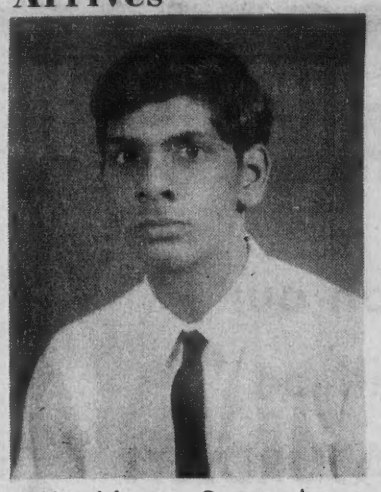

The town bylaws provide for a town meeting on the first Monday in October, but since state law prohibits more than a single annual town meeting, the session is classified as special.

There have been efforts to eliminate the October session. A committee was to be appointed to study the feasibility of this and also moving the annual town meeting and election to April.

To date, the moderator, Arthur Williams, apparently has not named the committee.

The major items of the October session are expected to be funds for working drawings for the addition to the William A. Doherty school and planning funds for secondary school construction.

Ceylon Youngster Arrives

Nimal Lucien Gunewarden

Nimal Lucian Gunewarden from Colombo, Ceylon, an American Field Service scholarship student, has arrived in Andover and will be living with the Andrew Innes family at 17 Canterbury St. during the coming school year.

Gunewarden, 17, will be a student at Andover High school in the fall. His interests include music, scouting, athletics and composing. In Ceylon he was a troop leader in Scouts and recently was awarded the Queen's Scout badge, highest award for a boy of his age group.

A cookout was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Viehmann, co-presidents of the Andover AFS Chapter, at which time Gunewarden was introduced to members of the club's executive board.

Potatoes First Rooted In Andover

Andover can take pride in another portion of developing the American scene.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. William J. Orr, 97 Shawsheen Road, a newspaper clipping reveals that the potato was grown in American soil for the first time here in Andover in 1718.

Mrs. Orr found the following newspaper article while going through some old papers in her home recently.

"Greater Lawrencians from this day forward can eat their potatoes with pride. Be they boiled or mashed or baked or fried -- potatoes from now on will have an extraordinary interest for local residents because Friday it was revealed by George G. Frederick, Methuen historian, that the potato first took root in this country in the backyard garden of Nathaniel Walker in Andover.

"The first potato plants to be planted in American soil were brought here by Scotch-Irish Presbyterians in 1718, Mr. Frederick's ancient records prove. The Irish

PLACED IN JOBS

In the first 6 months of 1969, nearly 10,000 draft rejectees were placed in jobs, training, or other programs by the Labor Department's Manpower Administration. Through the public employment service, jobs were found for 5,237, 2,368 were enrolled in skill training programs, 400 were persuaded to return to school, and 1,651 were referred to other agencies for various supportive and rehabilitative services.

Raytheon Earnings Lower

Raytheon Company today reported earnings lower in the second quarter but higher in the first half than a year ago.

Earnings in the quarter ended June 28 were $8,928,000, equal after provision for preferred dividends to $.60 a common share on the average 14,288,108 shares outstanding during the period.

This compares with restated earnings in the second quarter a year ago of $9,239,000 or $.62 a common share on the restated 14,374,761 shares outstanding during that period.

Sales in the second quarter totaled $317,272,000 compared with the restated $329,835,000 a year ago.

Raytheon President Thomas L. Phillips attributed the lower sales and earnings in the quarter to reduced volume in the company's components business, especially that segment serving the aerospace industry. "We are restructuring our components business to a lower volume of sales and expect to improve its profitability in the second half," he said.

First half earnings were $17,734,000 equal to $1.19 a common share on the average 14,356,659 shares outstanding during the period. This compares with restated earnings in the like period a year ago of $17,438,000 or $1.16 a common share on the average 14,367,731 shares then outstanding. Sales in the first half of 1970 were $624,418,000 compared with the restated $632,711,000 a year ago.

Results in 1969 are restated for purposes of comparison to include those of United Engineers and Constructors Inc., acquired in December 1969.

Pending clarification of the facts, Raytheon's second quarter earnings do not include provision for possible losses, estimated at a maximum of $3.4 million after taxes, resulting from the announced financial difficulties of Visual Electronics Corporation and its petition under the Bankruptcy Act. Raytheon holds $5.8 million in partially subordinated promissory notes issued by Visual in exchange for the assets and business of Raytheon Learning Systems Company, a former division of Raytheon's D. C. Heath and Company subsidiary. Visual Electronics has been notified that D. C. Heath has elected to rescind the sales agreement consummated in January 1970.

Provision for federal and foreign income taxes for the second quarter was $7,920,000 and for the first half was $15,625,000.

THEORY

Unchallenged for some 1400 years was the theory put forth by Greek astronomer Ptolemy that the moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, and even the sun were carried around the earth on crystal spheres, says the Hayden Planetarium of Boston's Museum of Science. Ptolemy also believed that a crystal dome containing the stars lay beyond the planets.

Drop-In Center To Open

The long awaited drop-in center is to open at the Central Fire Station on Park St. The facilities will be available to all high school students on Monday through Thursday nights from 7 - 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 - 4:30 p.m.

The drop-in center was established under the general direction of ACT (Andover Community Together), a council to study the various problems involving the young people and adults of the community.

The center will offer a variety of activities as determined by the students themselves, such as music, art, guest speakers, discussion groups and sensitivity or communication sessions.

The young people have been given free rein to decorate the interior.

The major responsibility of the center will rest on the student coordinators: Debbie Davis, publicity; Don Pattullo, clean-up; Bobby Loffredo, rules; Tim Harding, activities; Steve Duffy and Don Pattullo, furnishings; Mike Trombley, decoration. Students assisting on these committees are Cheryl Keany, Joe Normandy, Terry Bartow, Karen Billings, Susan White, Kathy White, Dandy Bro, Robin Brown, Lyn Reilly, Ray Bedell, Dan Innes, Chris Farnham, Donna Strobel, Karen Collins and Claudia Dengler.

Volunteer adults who will be available at all times to assist these students are Mrs. Louis Bourbeau, Mr. and Mrs. Roland West, Mr. and Mrs. Larry W. Mahen, Mr. and Mrs. Angie Ruggeiro, Richard White, Tom McKenna, Mrs. Jean Gibson and James Carroll.

Plans are in the making for an open house once the center is established. This will be announced in the paper at a later date.

There is still a need for more adults and young people to assist in this program. Interested individuals please contact the following people: Larry or Edith Mahon - 475-6243 or Jean Gibson - 475-4723.

C. B. Phillips Commended

A Dartmouth senior from Andover, has received special commendation for his participation in a student exchange program with Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., in the fall of 1969.

Carl B. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney H. Phillips of 18 Rennie Drive, was commended by Professor John G. Tryon "for service to fellow men in the teaching of 'Man-Made World' course at Tuskegee and particularly for hard work and a strong sense of responsibility."

Mr. Phillips was one of four undergraduates who used Dartmouth engineering experience to create a course taught in the predominently Negro school last fall. The Dartmouth students then spent the fall term taking regular Tuskegee courses while serving as laboratory instructors in an inovative freshman course in introductory engineering.

The 1970 program will include a full, two-way exchange which will permit three Tuskegee students to study at Dartmouth, in addition to three Dartmouth students who will join Tuskegee undergraduates to teach the Institute's freshman engineering course.

Mr. Phillips is now involved in preparing a revised laboratory textbook for next fall's course at Tuskegee.

In addition to his involvement in the Tuskegee project, Mr. Phillips is also active in the amateur radio club and the glee club.

She complained that her husband was very careless about his appearance, that he hadn't even showed up for two years.

This summer, approximately 1,200 Neighborhood Youth Corps enrollees will get work experience in water pollution control projects in 12 cities.

Pollution, if controlled, could be beneficial. Techniques are available to: turn sewage into clean water and agricultural fertilizer; to use nutrients from fertilized fields for harvesting algea for animal foods; to burn household refuse for power and the recovery of scrap metal; to use hot water from power plants to increase fish and shellfish production, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

Shawsheen Tops

Shawsheen Playground softball team emerged champion in the inter-playground softball meet Thursday afternoon, July 23, at Recreation Park playground.

In the first game Peter Kerwin, Indian Ridge, pitched a shut-out game against the Recreation Park playground team with a final score 12-0. Joey Poremba of Indian Ridge hit the only home run of the game and R. Lynch scored a double.

In the second game Shawsheen won over Ballardvale 7-4. Winning pitcher, Cindy Romano was the only girl who participated in the meet.

Shawsheen, with Cindy Romano, took the final championship game over Indian Ridge, 8-5.

Chess Champ

The grand champion of all playgrounds and all age groups in chess, was 10 year old Gerry Nuthmann. Gerry was first place winner at the Recreation Park playground, first place winner in the inter-playground chess meet and over-all winner in the challenge to the 11 and over age group.

Other winners were:

Ages 5 - 8 - Dean Hallbach, first; Dawn Anderson, second.

Ages 9 - 10 - Phillip Nardone and David Pearson, ties for second place.

Ages 11 - 12 - Thomas Lawler, first.

Indian Ridge

A large crowd watched the boys at Indian Ridge playground defeat their Dads at softball, 12 - 9, Friday night, July 24, at the playground cook-out.

The nine inning game got under way after kids and parents finished off all the hot dogs and hamburgers. While the mothers and wives watched and daughters and sisters cheered, the Dads quickly fell behind 2 to 0.

Leading the youngsters with three hits were team captain Raymond Lynch, Scott Flannagan and Robby Campbell. Mike Roy came up with the defensive play of the game when he caught a line drive and stepped on second base for a double play. For the Dads, Sam DeSalve and Ken Wallace each had three hits. Ray Bolduc displayed some fast pitching but the youngsters were able to connect with the ball often enough for victory. Cheering for both teams were: Maureen and Paula Newcomb, Chris Corkery, Kelly and Stacey Flannagan, Kathy Bolduc and Cindy Mikulewicz.

Frog Contest

Assistant Recreation Director John Milne announced today that the Pomp's Pond frog jumping contest will be held at the pond on Friday, July 31 at 2:30.

There will be two classifications to be held. The first will be all those under three inches in length and all those over three inches in length.

The frogs will be placed in a circle and the first frog to jump out of the circle will be the winner. Besides the race, there will also be prizes for the largest and the smallest and an over all prize between the two classifications. Additional information may be obtained at the pond with any of the staff.

Milne also announced that all lost and found items not claimed by Friday will be disposed of.

POTATOES

potato seeds were placed in Andover ground and before the plants were grown the "Wild Irish" as they were called moved on to Londonderry, N.H. and left Nathan Walker with a fine crop of potatoes -- with which he didn't know what to do.

"Although the country had been settled for 79 years, the people here were entirely ignorant of the character of the vegetable and supposed that the crop of green balls on the vines was the edible portion. These were cooked in all possible ways in an effort to make them palatable and not until the following spring when Mr. Walker plowed up his ground did he learn of the valuable product that lay underneath."

White Heads Anniversary Committee

Selectman Sidney P. White has been named chairman of the town's 325th anniversary observance committee.

The selectmen on a four to one vote Monday night, selected White and asked him to name the other members of the committee. The anniversary observance is planned for next year.

Selectman George E. Heseltine was opposed, maintaining that there was no need for such an observance. Heseltine expressed the opinion several weeks ago and most recently suggested that if there was to be observance, it should be combined with the Fourth of July celebration.

White said that he intended to appoint members of the committee who are knowledgeable about Andover and will be willing to serve. He feels that he will select co-chairmen to plan various phases of the anniversary program.

The committee will decide if the anniversary and Fourth of July celebration should be combined, at the request of the selectmen.

Indians on reservations, who now represent about two-thirds of the more than 650,000 American Indians, are the country's most disadvantaged minority group. These people have an extremely high unemployment rate and an average annual income of less than $2,000. Some Indians on reservations earn as little as $500 a year.

cally.

The Ballardvale well remains shut down, although it will be used to maintain the level of Pomp's pond. The well has a high iron content and cannot be used for public consumption.

Selectman Sidney P. White has asked that a check be made on the well for possible use, but McQuade states that recent tests indicate no change.

The lowest water usage this year occurred in February when 64,409,000 gallons were pumped.

Highest amount came in June when 104,875,000 gallons were used.

A year ago this month the town was supplied with 112,703,000 gallons, a figure which is anticipated to be surpassed this year.

Complaints regarding taste and discoloration have been received by the water department.

The problems are the result of the high gallonage being pumped.

Due to the heavy draft, some rust particles from the water lines get into the system, thus causing some discoloration at times.

It is impossible to flush the system at this time, since such action would only increase the problem. Such action is anticipated when the system is not being taxed as heavily as at present.

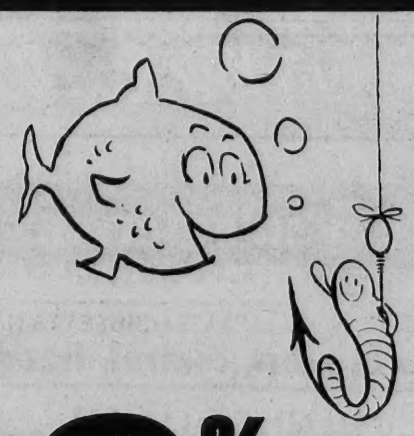

Certified As Instructor

Marshall W. Hollis, 28 Argilla Road, has been appointed a Certified Pistol and Rifle instructor, by the National Rifle Association of America.

The new instructor was appointed on the basis of experience and the successful completion of an extensive examination. He is now qualified to conduct classes in basic marksmanship and safe gun handling.

Marshall W. Hollis joins the ranks of selected volunteer instructors throughout the country who donate many hours in the NRA small arms education program. The program has been in operation since 1876; since that time many millions of people have been taught to handle and enjoy firearms safely and effectively.

Projector To Be Retired

After giving 12,000 performances for some two million people, the unique Korkosz projector at the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science is taking its final bow this summer.

The three-ton, blue and silver instrument will be retired in the fall, a doughty veteran of 12 years of seven-day-a-week shows, sometimes as many as nine a day.

Its farewell vehicle is "Footprints on the Moon," an imaginary lunar exploratory mission that will run through Sept. 6.

Replacing the present projector will be a new German-made Zeiss Mark VI, the fifth of its kind in the world and the first in New England. Similar machines are now in service at planetariums in Rochester, New York, Chapel Hill, North Carolina, New York City, and Chicago, Illinois.

The Korkosz projector, designed by John and Frank Korkosz of Springfield, Massachusetts, and purchased at a cost of nearly $200,000, was a prototype machine that projected only stars. To show other celestial bodies on the darkened Planetarium dome, the Museum used supplemental or special effects projectors. The dual system gave extraordinary service for more than a decade as the only "theatre of the skies" in the Boston Metropolitan area.

The Zeiss Mark VI can project the sun, moon, and all the planets, as well as the more than 9000 stars theoretically visible to the naked eye on earth. In addition, it permits closeup views of Saturn and Jupiter through zoom lenses; shows variable stars in true size, color and intensity; and altogether gives a more nearly complete view of the heavens than could be achieved with the older projector.

Between two and three months will be needed to install the new $260,000 projector. Overseeing the intricate operation will be two technicians from the Carl Zeiss firm of Oberkochen, West Germany.

Planetarium Director John M. Carr expects that the first program using the new machine will be the annual holiday presentation with the Star of Bethlehem, Santa Claus, and constellations of the winter sky.

During the closedown, the Planetarium staff will update the three-dimensional reproduction of the Boston skyline (a favorite feature with both tourists and natives) so as to coincide with the rapidly changing face of the city itself. New seats, new carpeting, better lighting, and an improved sound system will also be installed.

The two Hayden Planetariums in the country, one in New York and the other in Boston, are both named in honor of Charles Hayden, investment banker and philanthropist. He was born in Boston 100 years ago this month (July 9). He spent his youth and early working life in Boston; then moved to New York. A few years before his death he donated funds for the New York Planetarium, and in his will established the Charles Hayden Foundation which helped to establish the Museum of Science planetarium as well as other educational resources in the city of his birth.

College Expands Program

Bryant McIntosh Junior College, 175 Haverhill St., Lawrence, has announced the expansion of the Associate Degree offerings for the day and evening programs due to the number of individuals in the Merrimack Valley who have inquired about program openings for September, 1970.

An additional section will be added to the Aviation Administration, Business Administration, and Secretarial Administration Associate Degree Programs for individuals who wish to pursue a full-time program of study commencing Sept., 1970. Fifteen new sections will be added to the existing evening division program leading to the Associate Degree. The increases in both programs will allow approximately 250 more individuals to be admitted to the school.

Bryant McIntosh Junior College is the newest junior college accredited by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to award the Associate Degree. Since its inception in 1880, the Junior College has committed itself to providing an education for individuals living and working in the surrounding community. In keeping with the increased need for higher education, enrollments have increased three-fold over the past five years.

Zoning Hearings Scheduled

The Zoning Board of Appeals has scheduled five hearings for next Thursday, Aug. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor hall of Memorial Hall library.

Danton Realty Trust, 125 Main St., has petitioned for a variance from the bylaws and a special permit to convert a vacant commercial type building to multi-family dwelling with eight apartments at 8 Essex St.

A petition of Angelo Cataldo, asks the board to issue a variance to allow construction of a low income apartment complex for the elderly on lot three on Haverhill St.

Robert A. and Concetta M. Jaworski, 88 Cross St. have asked a variance to allow use of a portion of their home, located in a single residence district, to be used as a neighborhood beauty parlor.

L. John Davidson, 125 Main St., has requested a special permit to allow a dwelling at 123 Main St., to be converted to four apartment units. The property is located in a single residence zone.

Fresh Beans Available

Snappy beans are happy beans... and good quality plus low prices make happy homemakers.

Produce counters this week are heavy with the fresh crop of native green beans, and prices have come down from the 59 cents-per-pound of last month, reports the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture. These are fresh, snappy, top-quality green beans that are a credit to any meal.

Local growers are supplying the bulk of fresh produce right now, and green beans give an example of why they are Best Buys. Few realize the cost of sinply picking farm produce. In Florida, growers pay about one dollar a bushel to the pickers, who manage about one bushel per hour; the Massachusetts minimum is $1.65 per hour. In terms of dollars and cents, then, it costs the local farmer considerably more per bushel picked. Yet Florida beans sell for 59 cents a pound, vs. the native price of 19 to 29 cents! Native beans are fresh from the fields, fresher, snappier and tastier . . . and they certainly cost much less in season.

Green and wax beans were called string beans before the development of the current stringless snap bean varieties. They no longer have the stringy spine that made them somewhat unpleasant years ago. Pole and bush beans are all string beans. Wax beans are so-called for their waxy, yellow collor. There is no difference in nutritional value between green and wax beans, but the green beans are more common. Fresh snap beans should be crisp and firm, but tender. Green beans should have a bright green color, while ripe wax beans are bright yellow on the counter. Thick, fibrous pods are over-ripe, and usually tough.

Other interesting items from nearby farms this week are green and red cabbage, beets, carrots, cucumbers, and yellow summer and zucchini squash.

Corn is becoming plentiful in early varieties, and prices should be generally lower this week.

New potatoes -- the first-of-season summer varieties -- are beginning to appear from native farms. They are Irish Cobblers and Sebagoes . . . and hardly anyone can tell which is which.

Native fresh peaches are on the way, and should be in good supply by mid-August. The New England crop is expected to be about 232,000 bushels this season, about 15 percent larger than last year.

Circus Day In No. Andover

Everyone's a kid again on Circus Day!

And every kid, North Andover Police Association members feel, should be given the chance to enjoy the spangled world's joys and thrills.

So, helped by numerous cooperating business and professional men, the local group is seeing to it that all children of the area who otherwise could not afford a circus ticket will be guests at the Famous Circus Bartok. America's largest circus-in-the-round will appear at Route 125 and East Water Street, North Andover, on Monday, Aug. 3 under the auspices of North Andover Police Association.

We wish to thank all who have cooperated in this project to enable these boys and girls to enjoy a free outing under the Big Top, said Patrolman John J. Lanni of the sponsoring organization today. The Famous Circus Bartok, featured on a recent TV spectacular, "One Night Stands," tours the Eastern part of the United States each year.

It appears exclusively for civic and charitable organizations, aiding local fund raising projects such as the one here.

Headlining the all new 1970 performance will be Jan Perz with his motor cycle riding bears, waltzing elephants, sensational aerial ballet, tight wire act, performing crocodiles, well trained poodles, Ryckard and his thrilling balancing act, plus many others, including clowns galore. Bob Mitchell, America's foremost ringmaster keeps you informed of all the thrills and excitement taking place under the Big Top.

Competing for the applause of the audience will be highly skilled performers from all over the world, plus 21 laugh provoking clowns.

All North Andover Police officers have advance tickets on sale at special reduced prices or they may be purchased at North Andover Police Headquarters.

Editorial Comment

Lt. Col. Murgia

The current controversy in the Massachusetts State Police involving Lt. Col. Robert Murgia of Andover and Public Safety Commissioner Powers is unfortunate.

Lt. Col. Murgia has been stripped of authority as the leader of the uniformed branch of the state police. Commissioner Powers took the action on May 8.

We are unaware of all the circumstances involved, but it would appear that most unfortunately, there is the possibility that politics may have crept into one of the finest organizations in the Commonwealth – the state police.

Commissioner Powers was appointed to his present post as the first member of the state police to have risen from the ranks of the state police to that lofty position.

As such, and as is the case in many occupations, one finds those who are with you and those against along the way, and when in command makes appointments and decisions along these lines.

Previously, persons from outside the state police ranks headed the department. There were no favorites.

Lt. Col. Murgia has been maintaining a desk since May 8 at an annual salary of $18,000. One might assume that the taxpayers might well be alarmed to be paying that amount of money to a person stripped of powers and actually doing nothing.

Allegedly, he is not implementing new methods as indicated by Powers.

Our knowledge of Lt. Col. Murgia, is, that he has proven over the years, in his career with the state police, that he was always a "guts" guy.

When a holdup was in progress at the Town Lyne House in Lynnfield, it was Murgia, eligible for the first bullet, who led the troopers in.

The same was true when he responded to a prison riot.

He has been a proven leader, fearless and devoted to duty.

Why, then, this controversy?

Politics?

We would hope not, reiterating that we feel the state police to be one of the finest units this state puts forth before the public.

She's A Lady

In the daily mail comes a number of items, to which we give attention, sometimes using their news value, often times the items are trivia.

This past week, an item was sent from a Chicago, Ill., manufacturer which happened to catch our attention.

It comments on sex and nudity as looked upon in this day and age as freedom of expression.

Essentially, it takes an article written about ten years ago by songwriter Sy Miller and his wife, former actress Jill Jackson, and expresses a view to which we commend attention.

Entitled, "An Open Letter To Man," it says:

"I am a woman.

"I am your wife, your sweetheart, your mother, your daughter, your sister, your friend.

"I need your help.

"I was created to give to the world gentleness, understanding, serenity, beauty and love. I am finding it increasingly difficult to fulfill my purpose.

"Many people in advertising, motion pictures, television and radio have ignored my inner qualities and have repeatedly used me only as a symbol of sex.

"This humiliates me; it destroys my dignity; it prevents me from being what you want me to be – – an example of –

"Beauty, inspiration and love –

"Love for my children, love for my husband, love of my God and my country.

"I need your help to restore me to my true position, to allow me to fulfill the purpose for which I was created.

"I know you will find a way."

Dogs

Andover has gone to the dogs!

Each summer, a certain portion of either July or August is called Dog Days. It is a time of year when the hot, uncomfortable days become so-called because of the rising and setting of the Dog Star with the sun.

Here, in Andover, however, Dog Days may be year-'round observance.

This past week, a dog, formerly ordered restrained by the animal control officer, was allowed some liberty, provided the owner kept the animal on a 14-foot lead.

In another case, a local resident purchased a dog which had been confined at an animal hospital after having been picked up by the animal control officer.

The resident purchased the animal, only to find a few days later that a neighbor claimed it was his and wanted it returned.

Another resident of the town has been asking the selectmen for several weeks to free the restraining order on two dogs that he owns, which the board has not, as yet, done.

All of which proves, to be candid, cajoling canine capers, can be cantankerous and costly.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Our stalwart firefighters, who protect life and property hereabouts and are ever alert to the community's safety needs, had better start looking to the "farm team" for athletic purposes.

It seems Andover's fire crew challenged the North Andover fire department to a softball contest this week, or vice versa.

The final score, as reported to the desk was North Andover 34, Andover 14.

There are no reports on who kicked the extra points.

Among many disturbing things about driving the highways in hot weather, is the motorist who hangs his arm out the window.

We do not refer to the fellow who is driving one-armed, which by the way is dangerous, but to the fellow who dangles his arm and hand just casually out the driver's side of the car.

To the motorist following, or in front, it is confusing as to whether the person is giving a hand signal for a turn.

We noticed a taxi driver this past week guilty of such practice.

Such action could easily lead to accidents.

The extreme heat of the past week certainly was uncomfortable, but such actions on the part of motorists should be avoided.

Among popular new enterprises cropping up this time of year, is the roadside refreshment stand, offering lemonade, or other soft drinks.

Youngsters are pouring forth the liquid beverages for all sorts of varied prices and there is active competition.

One such entrepeneur, we noticed this week, along Elm street, gave visible evidence of a downtrend in the business, dispite the hot weather.

He was lying on the ground beside the stand, apparently asleep in the shade of a comfortable elm tree, with his iced refreshment available without too many takers.

The famed ocean liner, Queen Mary, was obtained by the city of Long Beach, Calif., when it was retired from service and was planned for a hotel, museum and tourist attraction.

The initial plans sought to convert the former first lady of the seas as a convention center at a cost of about $8,750,000.

Latest costs of conversion have soared past the $50,000,000 mark.

This year's California state budget includes a sum to investigate the project and "review the status of its approval of all expenditures on, or in behalf, of the Queen Mary."

Hope the same fate does not befall the London Bridge which is also en route to our country.

A suggestion box in an industrial complex can often produce some derogatory remarks, we can be assured, but it can also produce some remunatory rewards for employees as evidenced by a report from the Merrimack Valley Works of the Western Electric Co.

In their latest newsletter, the company reports that in 1969, suggestions by employees saved the company $94,500.

There were 1,267 suggestions submitted.

Management feels that more suggestions will lead to more savings, with the company passing on the benefits.

There was an interesting article published in a Boston newspaper this past week, indicating that rattlesnakes may be retreating from Massachusetts.

Such news is heartwarming to those of us who are not particularly fond of reptiles of any sort, harmless or otherwise.

We are not the least disheartened by the abandoning of the Bay State by the wiggly, rattling things.

And, we are happy too, not to have been a resident here when Rattlesnake Hill road properly obtained its name many years ago. It was the habitat of Rattlers when the road was a common thoroughfare between Andover and Reading.

The lacewing fly is a most unusual creature.

With its ballerina flight and graceful swoop around shrubbery and trees, he exhibits an appetite which would bely the graceful actions and contour of the dancer.

A devotee of mankind, the silvery-winged insect with jewel-like eyes, protects against destructive aphids.

At the age of ten days, the lace-wing can devour as many as 30 aphids an hour. At 12 days he consumes one a minute.

Aphids remove vital juices from trees and all types of plant life, thus the little, graceful lacewinged fly contributes heavily to keeping plantlife alive.

Miss Minchom is a student at the Manchester Library school and she will write a report of her experience here for her library course at Manchester. Although she will be in Andover only one month, Miss Minchom will spend a second month travelling in the western part of this country. She hopes to travel to California by bus before she leaves for England. Anthea is also getting acquainted with some American cousins while she is here. She has an uncle living in Saxonville, and most of her week-ends will be spent getting to know his family. While in Andover, Miss Minchom is living on Maple Ave.

WALTER J. SMALL

Walter J. Small, 70, 132 Osgood St., Lawrence, died suddenly Monday, July 20, while visiting at the home of his brother, William L. Small, 169 High Plain Road.

He was one of Greater Lawrence's best known newspapermen. He started his press career as a North Andover correspondent, having lived in the suburban town for many years. Later he became the circulation manager of his newspaper, the Lawrence Telegram. He was widely known among small store owners in his circulation area because of his weekly business visits with those distributing the Telegram to the neighborhood trade.

He was born in Berlin, N.H., April 5, 1900, and retired five years ago from the United Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn. He was a member of St. Augustine's parish.

He leaves a daughter, Carolyn, wife of Karl Harig of Andover, two brothers, Michael J. and William J. Small of Andover, four sisters, Mrs. Mary McKay and Miss Alice Small of Lawrence, Lily, wife of John Winters of Andover and Gladys, wife of Frederic Cebula of Andover, also a grandchild.

The funeral was held Thursday with a high Mass at 10 a.m. in St. Augustine's Church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, North Andover.

MRS. CHARLES MITCHELL

Mrs. Marie K. (Zaleski) Mitchell, 64, widow of Charles Mitchell, 44 Red Spring Road, was pronounced dead on arrival at Lawrence General Hospital early Friday, July 24.

A native of Manchester, N.H., she had resided in Andover 36 years.

She was a member of Christ Episcopal Church and was formerly a choir mother at the church.

She is survived by a daughter, Blanche of Andover, and three sons, Stanley of Santee City, Calif., Joseph of the U.S. Army in Georgia, and Charles of Greenville, S.C.

Funeral services were private.

MRS. WINONA THORNTON

Mrs. Winona (De Witt) Thornton, 74, widow of Frank Thornton, 141 Main St., died Tuesday afternoon at her home following a short illness.

Born in Ohio, she had been a resident of Andover for the past ten years.

She is survived by a son DeWitt Thornton of Andover with whom she made her residence and two grandsons, Roger D. Thornton of Boston and Allen H. Thornton of Andover.

Graveside services will be held on Friday at the Washington cemetery, Washington Court House, Ohio.

Memorial gifts may be sent to the American Cancer Society, 138 Newbury St., Boston.

Musgrove Still Closed

Some temporary repairs have been made to the Musgrove building, but the structure remains closed and the area roped off.

The owner had contractors in the building the past week and windows have been boarded up.

The building has been closed since June 7 when a section of the roof collapsed, water lines were broken and power for the building shut off.

Most businesses in the block have been unable to relocate since the building was closed over a month ago.

The roping off of the area, for safety reasons, has caused the public to have to walk out in the street, rather than use the sidewalk.

Little League

By Rick Harrison

The Andover National Little League All-Stars advanced all the way to the finals of the District 14 portion of the International Little League Tournament before being eliminated, 3-0, by the Billerica National All-Stars.

In action this week, Manager Dick Neal's Andover National team dumped Lawrence Tower Hill, 9-6, in the semifinals before running into Billerica National.

Other Little League action saw the Andover Senior Little League Indians whip the Cubs, 7-3, to sweep their best-of-three series for the Town Senior Little League title. The win was the 28th straight for the Indians over a two-year span, and the championship was their second in a row.

Andover National-Tower Hill -- Andover National, leading 6-0 at one point in this game, needed a three-run rally in the sixth inning to defeat the Tower Hill All-Stars.

Tom Duffy picked up his second tournament triumph, allowing six hits over the six-inning route. Tom had exception control once again, walking no one whiffing eight.

The National All-Stars banged out 14 hits, but still needed that last inning rally to pull out the victory.

Andover National grabbed a 3-0 lead in the top of the second. John Fabiani started the uprising with a single. He took second on an error, and raced home with the first run on John Fahey's double.

Fahey took third on a wild pitch, and then Scott Hammar walked. With runners at first and third, Fahey and Hammar pulled a double steal. As Tower Hill tried to throw out Hammar, Fahey raced home with the second run.

Mark Farnham made it 3-0 when he ripped a solid single to left to score Hammar.

Andover threatened to make a runaway of the tilt, jumping out to a 6-0 spread with three more tallies in the top of the fourth inning.

Scott Hammar drove across the fourth run with a single, and then Steve Galvin doubled in two runs to make it 6-0.

Tower Hill came back with two runs in their half of the fourth. Dave Berthel beat out an infield roller, and Tom Sline followed with a homerun over the centerfield fence.

Tower Hill erupted for four runs in the bottom of the fifth to knot the count, 6-6. Jose Sanchez and Dan Gelinas reached on back-to-back errors by Andover National. Chuck Kolofoles beat out a roller to plate Sanchez and make it 6-3.

Ed Saab then hammered a three-run homer to tie the game, and set the stage for Andover National's clutch rally.

Four hits, three of them infield rollers, and a pair of throwing errors helped Andover seal the final nail in the Tower Hill coffin.

Mark Farnham began the inning by beating out a bunt, and he moved to second when the throw to first went wild. Steve Galvin tried the same thing with similar results. He beat out a bunt, and raced to second on a bad toss. Farnham scored what proved to be the winning run on this last throwing miscue.

Duffy then legged out an infield roller that moved Galvin to third base. Steve scored the eighth run on a sacrifice fly by Brian Twomey, and Paul Derby followed with a single up-the-middle to score Duffy with the final run.

Duffy retired Tower Hill in the bottom of the sixth with little trouble to end the game.

Dave Berthel was the starting hurler for Tower Hill, and Kolofoles came on in the fourth to take the loss.

Farnham and Galvin sparked the winners' offense with three hits apiece, while Fabiani chipped in with a pair of safeties.

Andover National-Billerica National -- Billerica's righthanded fireballer Bob Sullivan hand-cuffed Andover National with a one-hit shutout in the district finale at the Highlands Field in Lowell.

Sullivan was almost perfect, walking no one and fanning seven. He faced only 21 batters (three over the limit), as two other Andover National batters reached on errors.

Losing pitcher Steve Galvin was the victim of poor fielding support. He allowed only four hits and fanned four, but three Andover National errors in the second inning led to three unearned runs for the winners.

The fatal second frame began innocently enough when big Bill Sullivan was thrown out on a bunt attempt.

However, Bob Sullivan followed with a single up-the-middle. Bob Forsyth forced Sullivan at second, making it two outs and Forsyth at first.

John Arnold then grounded a sharp shot to third. Andover National third baseman Mike McCormick had the ball kick off his glove and into leftfield. Forsyth put his head down and raced around the bases to score the first run, and when the leftfielder's return throw to the infield eluded everyone, Arnold chugged home with the second run.

Art Jean followed with a walk, and then Fred Wazniak drilled a double up-the-alley in right-center. Jean decided to come to the plate, and a wide throw from cut-off man Brian Twomey allowed him to score the third run.

Wozniak also tried to score on the same play, but was cut down at the plate to end the inning.

Bob Sullivan retired the first eight Andover National batters in order, before Scott Hammar collected the only safety for the losers. Scotty bounced a single into centerfield that deflected off pitcher Sullivan's glove.

Andover's only threat came in the fourth inning. Steve Galvin reached on an error by second baseman Art Jean to start things. He was forced at second to Tom Duffy, and then Duffy moved around to third on a stolen base and wild pitch.

However, Duffy died at third when Brian Twomey struck out and Mike Foote hit a line drive to first baseman Bill Sullivan.

Andover's other baserunner was Mark Farnham, who reached first in the sixth inning when Bob Sullivan misplayed his bunt. He was forced at second by Galvin, and then Duffy lined out to shortstop Wozniak to end the game.

Sullivan whiffed the side in the third frame and struck out two in the fifth inning. Galvin fanned two men in the fourth, and at one point retired six batters in succession.

Andover National concluded its tournament play with a 3-1 record. Prior to the loss, they defeated Lowell Callery, 3-0, Chelmsford Lupien, 4-3, in seven innings and Tower Hill.

The entire squad consisted of Mark Farnham, Steve Galvin, Tom Duffy, Brian Twomey, Mike Foote, John Fabiani, John Fahey, Mike McCormick, Scott Hammar, Pete Aumais, Bob Jenkins, Glenn LeFebvre, Ricky Whitcomb and Paul Derby; Neal was the manager and Dick Hubbell the coach.

Indians-Cubs -- This victory put the lid on a second straight unbeaten season for the Indians, who are coached by Chuck Barr and Mike Sweetser.

Chuckie Barr was the winning pitcher in the title game, scattering seven hits and striking out six men.

Jeff Alexander was the big sticker for the winners, belting a long two-run homer in the third inning. Dave Sweetser chipped in with a pair of hits and two RBIs.

This week's action wrapped up all play in the Andover Little League for the 1970 season.

Lawrence, Salem and Newburyport are known as shire towns of Essex County for the administration of justice.

The reason some people don't recognize opportunity is because it usually comes disguised as hard work.

It used to be that a man running down a city street in his shorts at 6:30 in the morning was either absentminded or fleeing his wife. Now, he's just another jogger.

involved in reinforcing the water system in the particular area.

A representative of the board will be in attendance at the hearing, and point out the pertinent facts.

The planning board has not taken an official stand on the proposal, but more than likely will, prior to the hearing since a representative of that group generally makes a report expressing the board's views.

The proposal asks a variance from the town's bylaws and is not being presented under a state law which allows low income housing units to be built in areas of communities. The state law permits developers, who qualify, to construct such units despite opposition by the town.

The Cataldo proposal is to construct a building 60 feet by 175 feet of five stories and 50 feet in height.

NEAR READY. The West school addition, a 24 classroom complex, is nearing completion. Here the building is viewed from the High Plain road area showing the overall addition. The building committee feels sure it will be ready for occupancy by the opening day of school.

New Classrooms To Be Ready At West

It now appears virtually certain that the 24 room addition to the West school will be ready for the opening day of school.

The building committee meeting at the school this week, in summary, were of the opinion that while the building will not be complete, it will be ready for school use.

Finishing up work will be able to proceed without interruption of classroom or school operations.

The assurance causes relief to school adminstrators who would have had to make alternate plans, if the building was not ready.

Chairman James J. St. Germain said that he feels the committee, which he praised for their voluntary dedication overseeing the planning and construction, will be working on punch list items by the time school opens.

The committee has been meeting weekly all summer to insure delivery of the school on time.

Equipment for the school is now arriving almost daily.

Pianos, office equipment, chairs and materials for the Information Materials Center were arriving early this week and other items are scheduled for delivery now through the opening day of school.

The chairman feels that there will be a few problems after the school opens but only of a minor nature and almost consistent with the opening of any new building.

The gymnasium is now complete with the exception of basketball backboards which will be in soon.

Carpeting is now 95 percent complete.

The auditorium will not be complete by the time school opens, but this was anticipated. It will have a plaster ceiling. Three coats of plaster have to be applied and each coat requires a specific amount of drying time.

Some hot top work has been done, but a current shortage of materials has delayed the overall work. As contractors receive material, application of the surface is made.

A sewer line to High Plain road is nearing completion.

This was done with the co-operation of Public Works Director Robert McQuade. An original line was felt to be not deep enough and now has been changed.

Drainage for the playfields has been completed.

One problem area is the bluestone corridor joining the old and new schools. Installers have been on strike all summer, thus delaying this work.

The committee is not concerned about the matter, however, feeling that the corridor can be improvised if not ready by Sept. 10.

Insulation of piping will probably not be completed, but this work can be done while school is in session.

The budget for the project is $2,342,500. The figure includes some renovation work to the old school to conform with the addition.

The building cost is in the vicinity of $1,726,000. Remainder of the budget will be utilized for site improvement, equipment and professional costs.

While the building cost is high, the committee points out the town will benefit by the original cost through savings after it is opened.

It is designed for low maintenance, and this factor will result in future savings.

Everyone Away? Hardly

There is a popular theory hereabouts that everyone in Andover goes away for the summer once schools close.

To explode that myth one need only drop by Andover High school any evening and see the myriad of activity in the building and on the playfields.

There is something for everyone and upwards to 200 to 500 Andover residents, young and old alike are thoroughly enjoying the facilities.

And, why not?

For the millions of dollars the town spent to create the building and playfields, the townspeople can reap some benefits of their tax dollars.

One of the most popular areas is the tennis courts.

There are two courts, one near the high school, the other near the West Junior High building.

Nightly these areas are filled with enthusiasts of all ages.

The area near the high school has been resurfaced with funds provided at the annual town meeting in March.

On the upper field behind the high school, a group of young men were busily engaged one night this week getting in condition for the football season.

The young men were working out on their own, hopeful of being in shape when the call is made for the opening drills for the football season.

At this point, minus equipment, they run plays on a tag basis.

On a lower field a group of youngsters were playing soccer, a sport rapidly becoming more popular locally.

Two other fields were also buzzing with softball activity.

The Andover Recreation league was in operation on one field and an Inter-Hospital league was playing on another.

The Recreation league utilizes other fields in town on Monday through Wednesday nights.

The league provides entertainment not only for the participants but for the many spectators who attend the contests.

In the high school building itself, there is an abundance of activity.

The shop area buzzes with machines, as youngsters work on various personal projects.

In the gymnasium, boys and girls alike make use of the various gymnastic equipment, bars, horses, etc. Little wonder Andover is a constant leader in gymnastics in the state and New England.

The young people display excellent form going through their routines.

Hot weather failed to dampen their enthusiasm as they continued their activity even through the humid, over-90 degree weather a week ago.

The Boston Celtics should have some scouts out here looking over the bustling basketball courts.

All courts are filled constantly both inside and on some of the outside areas.

Youngsters are waiting in line to participate in the games, and many display better than average ability at the game.

Cars constantly stream in and

Timetable Set For Doherty Addition

Plans for the addition to the William A. Doherty school may be ready for presentation to the annual town meeting in March, if the timetable planned by the building committee can be followed.

James J. St. Germain, chairman of the committee reports this week that the preliminary plans for the addition have been sent to the state School Building Assistance commission for examination. A date has been requested with the commission to go over the plans and seek approval.

Once approved, the committee will make plans to go before the October town meeting seeking funds to allow the architect to proceed with working drawings for the new building.

Working drawings, from which the contractors will work will probably cost in the vicinity of $80,000.

The chairman said that hopefully these drawings will be ready so that bids on construction of the building can be sought in early 1972, probably in February.

If this happens, then the committee will be able to go into the annual town meeting in March with a construction cost for the addition.

If not, then a special town meeting will have to be called next spring. This, the committee hopes to avoid.

If the timetable is met, construction could begin next spring and hopefully be ready for accupancy by September of 1972.

Plans were held up briefly when some members of the school committee expressed a desire for more footage in the Information Materials Center.

The building committee refused to reconsider its plans and add the requested space.

Adding to the school will create further problems for the school department.

Included in the plans is utilizing what is now the administrative offices of the school department for classroom space.

The administration has already planned somewhat for this on a temporary basis, by renovating portions of the Stowe school for offices.

Estimated cost of the total school addition is $1,900,000.

To Withdraw Apartment Proposal

A petition requesting a hearing on a variance to allow apartments to be built on Haverhill street, has been withdrawn, according to Atty. James Eaton.

Atty. Eaton, counsel for Angelo Cataldo, trustee of the Rose Cataldo Trust, proponents of the apartment project, said that the request will be withdrawn before the zoning board of appeals Thursday night.

The Cataldo proposal was to

The Musgrove Gets Into Rumor Mill

The Musgrove building remains in a state of limbo.

Despite rumors of its possible sale, repair, removal of a floor or two, no positive action appears to be taking place.

Meanwhile the 75-year-old Elm Square building remains closed, its status since June 7 when a portion of the roof collapsed, breaking water lines and forcing the turning off of power.

The owner, Samuel Resnik, has had some temporary repairs made at the building, such as boarding up windows which were shattered when the roof collapsed.

There were reports early this week that some businessmen were interested in purchasing the building, but there appears to be nothing imminent along these lines.

Whether permanent repairs are to be made, such as strengthening walls and permanently repairing the roof, is speculative.

The area continues to be roped off as a safety precaution. Officials are fearful of falling brick or debris from the building, thus pedestrians must walk in the road to get around the building.

Council Designated For Valley Region

The Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council, Inc. has been designated as the official comprehensive health planning organization for the valley. The designation was made by Governor Francis W. Sargent through the Executive Office for Administration and Finance.

Official recognition of the MVHPC brings to an end a two-year battle between the organization and the state's Office of Planning and Program Coordination, which had formulated a policy whereby the Merrimack Valley region, including Greater Lowell, Greater Lawrence, Greater Haverhill, and Greater Newburyport, would have been divided and made parts of separate, larger regions to the south. This regional plan would have applied not only for health planning, but also for all other types of planning, such as transportation, education, economic development and others. To the organizers of MVHPC this plan would not have served the best interests of the people of the Merrimack Valley as it would have placed their communities at the outskirts of larger, Greater Boston-based regions. According to spokesmen for the council, the state's plan would have resulted in a loss of control over their own growth and development by valley communities, as decisions would be controlled by the Greater Boston cities. The plan would also have reduced the amount of federal and state funds for the Merrimack Valley, said Council officials.

The two-year fight was ended on May 1 when Governor Sargent flew to Andover to announce that he had decided that the Council's proposal -- that the Merrimack Valley be one region unto itself -- was correct and that the old regional plan would be altered to fit the Council's proposal. The Governor's decision came after several meetings between the Governor, his staff, area legislators and MCHPC officials.

Approval of the planning council's application paves the way for a federal grant of $52,000 for support of the organization from September 1970 to August 1971. The application has now been forwarded to the regional office of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, where approval is expected by Aug. 1.

MVHPC was formed on June 10, 1968 by the hospitals and medical societies in the Merrimack Valley with the purpose "to promote and assure the highest level of health attainable for every person in an environment which contributes positively to healthful individual and family living." With its approval, MVHPC now has official responsibility to review all proposals for new, expanded or altered health services or health facilities in the region, and to comment upon whether the proposals are in accordance with community needs. At present the Council is studying proposals for expansion of several hospitals, creation of new health services, such as a coronary care unit at Amesbury Hospital and a cobalt therapy unit at Bon Secours Hospital, construction of several nursing homes, drug rehabilitation programs in three cities, and air quality standards for the Valley. MVHPC officials were to meet with the chairman of the Commonwealth Rate Setting Commission and other state officials on June 10 to discuss matters of mutual interest.

The organization has been lead by a board of trustees consisting of 100 citizens from the thirty-three cities and towns in the Valley, and by an Executive Committee consisting of Atty. Richard K. Donahue, Lowell, chairman of the board of trustees, R. Ashton Smith, Lawrence, treasurer, Atty. Michael J. Batal, Jr., Lawrence, chairman-elect of the board, and Ralph D. Arivella, Lawrence, Ben Armstrong, Haverhill, Santo Cataudella, D.M.D., Lawrence, Leo F. Desjarlais, Lowell, William H. Harding, Andover, Herbert J. Hatem, M.D., Lawrence, Joseph A. Johnson, Jr., Billerica, George F. Kwass, M.D., Haverhill, Michael Malamud, M.D., Haverhill, Daniel J. O'Connor, M.D., Lowell, Roy C. Stephenson, Lowell, and Harry S. Weinroth, Lawrence.

The headquarters of the council is located in Suite C, 488 Essex Street, Lawrence, and is staffed by Donald A. P. Douglas, president; Miss Diane E. James, associate director; and Miss Linda M. Brown, staff associate, research and management. Mr. Douglass and the Misses James and Brown were all formerly with the Division of Planning, Massachusetts Hospital Association in Boston.

The council now plans to implement a nine-month program whereby the board of trustees will conduct investigations into community health problems, set the problems into priorities, establish long-range goals to alleviate the problems, and determine the steps necessary to reach the goals. The council is receiving staff support in this project from the Raytheon Corporation, Andover, and American Mutual Insurance Company, Wakefield.

Au Revoir To The Trees

Sad news from France says that those beautiful lines of trees that have shaded the roads of France of lo, these many years are going to be cut down.

The French Ministry of Transport has apparently decided that too many of the trees have jumped in front of cars and killed people.

The New York Times commented wryly, "The assumption that when an automobile hits a tree it's the tree's fault is quintessentially French."

Would it were so!

The truth is that they probably got the whole idea from the Americans. Perhaps you recall that a couple of years ago there was a great furor because the United States Bureau of Public Roads planned to cut trees within thirty feet of highways.

After a deluge of letters from outraged citizens, the order to cut was "clarified" so that secondary roads would not be so greatly affected as was originally thought, and so that more leeway was left for local decision on the basis of the individual location.

Since then the matter has quieted down. I was curious about whether the situation had really improved or whether people were just too busy and preoccupied to notice any missing trees. So I did a little checking around.

Things do seem to be better in this country, if not in France. The order to cut down trees within thirty feet of the roadway is applied to all interstate highways and all new construction. But on older roads, cutting is supposed to be done only if the situation is clearly dangerous.

There have been scattered reports of unnecessary or unwise cutting here and there in some states . . . just enough reports that citizens are urged to watch for cut trees as they drive along the nation's roads this summer. If they see any roadside tree cutting that looks excessive, they should inquire at that state's highway department or department of public works. No one wants one of those "scattered reports" to scatter itself right in his own back-yard. It's like a scattered thunderstorm . . . you can get mighty wet if it's overhead.

Another thing to watch for and inquire about is excessively wide cutting on new construction. If you've driven along the highway from Boston to New York lately, you'll have seen that the road just north of the Massachusetts-Connecticut border looks as if Paul Bunyon went on a rampage. This extra-wide cutting appears to have been done more so that the road machinery wouldn't have to bother going around any inconvenient trees than for the sake of automobile safety. No one is arguing with the thirty-foot rule here, but certainly the trees over thirty feet from the highway should be better protected.

If you want to protect yourself from dangerous trees, I suggest driving at a safe speed, stopping to rest if you get sleepy, and not drinking when you plan to drive.

And if you feel like protesting the cutting of those lovely old trees of France, you might try writing to the French Embassy in Washington. Maybe there's still hope for saving some of the Gloire de La France.

The polite man never enters a room without first opening the door.

REAPPOINTED — Governor Francis W. Sargent is shown swearing-in Mrs. Evelyn Axelrod of Andover. Mrs. Axelrod was recently sworn-in as a Member of the Mental Health Advisory Council. This is a re-appointment for Mrs. Axelrod.

Over 70 Exemption Changed

The assessors have announced that recent changes in Clause 41 (over 70 exemption) by the Legislature may affect some who were eligible, and others who were not eligible in prior years. Application forms have been completely revised, and are being mailed to all who received the exemption in 1969.

Two of the changes which are major in nature may affect a considerable number of elderly taxpayers, and are listed below:

1. Gross receipts for a single person who applies for exemption must be less than $6,000, and the combined gross receipts for a married couple must be less than $7,000. Gross receipts is now meant to include receipts from all sources whatsoever (less ordinary business expenses and losses but not family expense.)

2. The total estate (real and personal) of the applicant must not exceed $30,000 for a single person, or $35,000 for a married couple. Total estate, real and personal, of the applicant and his spouse, if any, includes the assessed value of all real property owned, money in the bank, investments of all types, including stocks, bonds, and other business ventures, but does not include cash on hand, wearing apparel, household furnishings, motor vehicles, farm machinery, certain farm animals, boats and gear used in commercial fishing, and cemetery rights of burial.

The purpose of this revision of the property tax exemption for the elderly is to restore to the law the original purpose for the exemption -- to assist elderly persons in need of such assistance to maintain their home by granting a reduction in property taxes. Under the old law, a person could have considerable amounts of money in the bank or invested elsewhere than in real estate and still be eligible for the exemption, if his home was valued for less than $20,000 and his income was not above $4,000 or $5,000 if married, while other persons, particularly in towns which have been revalued, could have homes valued at $25,000, and have no other assets and be ineligible for the exemption. Also, under the old law, social security benefits were not considered income, whereas government, railroad retirement, or other pensions were considered income; thus persons in identical financial circumstances were treated differently.

By basing this determination of need on the total estate, personal as well as real, and on the total gross receipts from all sources whatever, rather than just certain sources, and by increasing the maximum amounts of each, all persons will be treated equally and those in need of assistance will receive the exemption.

Named To IRS Post

Patrick J. Ruttle, former chief of the management staff in the Cincinnati Regional Office of the Internal Revenue Service and a graduate of the 1970 IRS management development program, has been assigned as assistant director at the Service Center in Andover.

Mr. Ruttle, who began his career with the IRS as assistant chief of the training and taxpayer education branch in Cincinnati, was one of nine government officials competitively selected for the program on a nationwide basis from among hundreds of applicants.

The executive selection and development program is used by the IRS to identify and train officials who demonstrate the most executive potential. Emphasis is placed on the development of background and executive skills necessary to direct complex multi-functional activities. IRS fills high-level positions in its regional, district and service center offices from graduates of the six-month program.

A native of Covington, Ky., Mr. Ruttle, 38, received his B.A. in history from Villa Madonna College there in 1956. Mr. Ruttle entered government service in 1956 as a board of examiner operations supervisor for the Civil Service Commission in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was employed for two years at the U.S. Army Finance Center in Indianapolis, Ind., before rejoining the CSC in 1962 as a civil service representative. In January 1964 he joined the IRS as assistant chief of the training and taxpayer education branch in the Central Region, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. Ruttle is a member of the Society of Personnel Administration and is currently Secretary-Treasurer of the Cincinnati Federal Business Association. He is married to the former Yvonne Striley of Madeira, Ohio and they have five children.

Drum Corps Festival To Be Held In Lawrence

The thousands of drum corps fans expected to throng Lawrence Memorial Stadium on Sunday, Aug. 23, for the Danny Thomas Invitational Senior and Junior Drum Corps festival, will be making a significant contribution to one of the country's leading medical charity programs -- St. Jude Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Ninety percent of all funds collected in the name of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, founded by Danny Thomas, are used for leukemia research and the treatment of its young victims.

Lawrence was chosen from a dozen suggested New England communities as the most desirable site for this nationally prestigious competition because of the outstanding record of the Lebanese community of the Merrimack Valley in supporting St. Jude's. South Lawrence Stadium will provide the stage for a championship battle among the five finest senior corps in the United States and Canada -- the Yankee Rebels of Baltimore, the Skyliners of New York City, the Hurricanes of Shelton, Conn., the Caballeros of Hawthorne, N.J., and the Sunrisers of Long Island, N.Y.

Spicing the confrontation of the precision - perfectionist Seniors will be the contrasting swinging music and marching of five uninhibited Eastern championship Junior corps. Matching spirited salvos in this younger division will be the Vanguards of Des Plaines, Ill., the Golden Knights of Newark, N.J., the Crusaders of Boston, St. Joseph's of Batavia, N.Y. and the 27th Lancers of Revere.

Championship contests for Senior and Junior corps on the same program are a rare treat. Area co-chairmen Emile Hajar and Edward Nicholas have announced that competition will start promptly at 1 p.m.

Teams Seek Playoff Spots

The Andover softball league continued last week with six games played. Team standings remained the same.

Important games for next week will be between the top two teams, Dana's and the Andover Recreational Lanes jockeying for first place. Standard Register and Nancy's are also battling for a play-off spot.

Next week the final games are scheduled for all teams before the play-off begins.

Games scheduled for the week

Missile Contract To Raytheon

The U.S. Army today awarded an $8.6 million contract to Raytheon Company for engineering development definition on the SAM-D air defense missile system.

Acknowledging that the award moves SAM-D another notch towards development, the Army said that Raytheon, under the contract, will begin preparation of system specifications and design data books. SAM-D is now in advanced development, the Army said.

Most of the work will be done at Raytheon's Bedford, Massachusetts, facilities.

SAM-D is being developed for air defense against high performance aircraft in the late 1970's. It will be a highly mobile weapons system capable of acquiring, tracking, identifying, and destroying several targets simultaneously.

Colonel James C. Miller, Jr., is SAM-D project manager and directs the program for the Army at Army Missile Command Headquarters, Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. Raytheon's Missile Systems Division is prime contractor.

Attending Camp Naticook

Julie Russem and Marjie Siskind of Andover are attending Camp Naticook in Merrimack, N.H.

Camp Naticook, an accredited member of the New England Camping Association, is very conservation conscious this season. The staff became aware of the problem when Roger Fenn, an outstanding conservationist, conducted a seminar through the sponsorship of N.E.C.A.

One of the most popular activities at camp is Nature Craft. Campers explore nature, by foot, canoe, or rowboat. They pick up litter and turn it into beautiful creative collages. Rocks become painted paperweights and discarded springs, mobiles. Fish, when caught, are not kept and frogs are only kept for three days. Currently, the entire camp is busy exploring lake and forest for the planned aquarium and terrarium.

GREEK'S ON URSA MAJOR

The Greeks believed the Big Dipper's stars outlined Callisto, a nymph, placed in the heavens by Zeus, in the form of a female bear. The North (where the "bear" is) was called arctic, from the Greek word for bear, arctos, the Massachusetts Audubon Society tells us.

Pollution Assurance Questioned

The Massachusetts Audubon Society yesterday questioned the assurances of James L. Dallas, State Air Pollution Control Authorities Director, that Boston was not suffering adverse effects from the pollution blanket that still summer air has laid over the East Coast from Florida through Massachusetts.

Morgan added that "in the end, an emergency plan probably would prove unworkable anyway, particularly in a state which has a permissive attitude toward rising pollution levels."

"In assuring the public that sulfur dioxide and particulate matter have not reached dangerous levels," Allen H. Morgan said, "Mr. Dallas, State Air Pollution Control Director seems to be assuring us about the wrong pollutants.

"The dangerous pollutants at this season and under these conditions are nitric oxides, hydrocarbons and oxidants, all of which are generated by automobiles. When nitric oxide and hydrocarbons hang in the still air and strong sunshine, the sun brews them into dangerous nitrogen dioxide and ozone.

"Ozone is particularly dangerous. It not only irritates healthy lungs but also can be disastrous to persons with lung disorders. Ozone also causes loss of garden plants and trees. The fundamental question is this: is ozone being monitored? If not, why not? If so, why are levels not published?

"Sulfur dioxides and particulate matter normally become a problem when home and apartment heating units begin functioning in the autumn, and adding their pollution contribution to that given off by industrial plants, Morgan said.

"It is obvious," Morgan said, "that the public must become educated in air pollution terms. An informed public will be necessary to see that high air pollution standards are adopted and regulations are enforced in Massachusetts."

"At this time," Morgan said, "Massachusetts has set standards limiting only the amount of sulfur oxides and particulate matter in the air. A deadline for the state to submit proposed standards for carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and oxidants has been set for early December.

"To the best of our knowledge, the State Division of Air Use Management has not announced any emergency management plan to cope with dangerous situations that might arise in the Commonwealth's air," Morgan said. "The Division seems to have adopted soothsaying and public reassurance as an alternative. We would be interested in what, if anything, the Division intends to do when an emergency arises. Surely defenders of the public's right to breathe should be prepared to do more than commiserate with victims when their optimism collapses."

"The fact of the matter is that there can be no "emergency plan" that will solve an air pollution crisis except to avoid the crisis entirely by attacking it at its base. Every time we allow another auto to be registered or another home or industrial heating plant installed -- any source of uncontrolled combustion -- we add to the base of the air pollution load, and add to the inevitability of an air pollution disaster.

"Any statement that people are not being injured and killed by the air conditions existing this past week is as irresponsible and untrue as stating that smoking a carton of cigarettes doesn't hurt your lungs or heart! Only in the case of air pollution the responsibility is shifted. It is timid bureaucrats and hypocritical politics that have forced the public to poison its lungs without its knowledge or consent.

"You can refuse to make cigarettes! The citizens of metropolitan Boston are obliged to breathe the only air they've got!

"The sulfur and particulate standards adopted by Massachusetts in late spring," Morgan said, "were set so high that medical testimony at the hearing made it clear those pollutant levels are a danger to the health of most persons over fifty."

Named Head Of Division

At a recent quarterly meeting of Servomation Wilbur management personnel, chief executive officer, Terry Vince, revealed a major change in the organization.

Mr. Leo Skellchock, a graduate of the Hotel and Restaurant School at Pennsylvania State University, has been named vice president of the business, industrial, and hospital division.

After his experience with Howard Johnsons, Monte's Restaurants, and membership in the American Dietetic Association, Mr. Skellchock was named director of food service in 1964 at the Waukesha Memorial Hospital in Wisconsin.

Leo Skellchock

Later, he served as director of hospital services for Prophet Foods Company, and director of dietary at Evanston General Hospital in Illinois.

He joined Servomation in January 1969 to develop a hospital division. His new position is effective July 1, 1970.

Mr. Skellchock, with wife Betty, thirteen year old Stephen, and eleven year old Laura, live in Andover.

Twenty-four percent of all applicants at local Federal-State public employment offices in 1969 were non-white. This group of people received 36 percent of the counseling time and accounted for 37 percent of all nonfarm job placements.

Heyerdahl's Dirty Baths

Thor Heyerdahl's discovery of oil in the midst of the Atlantic may have more permanent effect on science than his theory that the ancient Egyptians settled Central America and taught the Mayas their secrets.

Of course, Thor didn't really "discover" oil. That, I believe, means bringing in a gusher. He didn't even "discover" that there are oil slicks and floating blobs of oil strewn all over the seven seas, the result of man's pollution of the ocean. Scientists and conservationists have been pointing out that fact for some time now.

But Thor Heyerdahl has a wonderful sense of the dramatic. He announces the pollution of the seas from a most elegant papyrus boat, guaranteed to capture the human imagination. And he tells the story in the most human of terms. Other scientists may say that at least a million tons of oil are dumped, pumped, and otherwise spilled at sea every year (which they are), but good old Thor says, "It was too dirty to take a morning bath." Those are words that pack a wallop.

That million tons of spilled oil per year figure, by the way, is an estimate made by Dr. Max Blumer of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in an article, "Oil Pollution of the Ocean," in the book Oil on the Sea, edited by Dr. David P. Holt of the Engineering Department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

I talked to Dr. Blumer about that million tons estimate, which seems incredibly high. He arrived at it by study of ships' and ports' records of average percentages of oil lost, correlating them with known amount of oil shipped each year, which is more than a billion tons. Dr. Blumer says, "A million tons is a conservative extimate. No one from the oil industry has questioned it."

As far as I know, the fact that at least a million tons of oil are dumped into the ocean every year made few front pages. But Thor's dirty baths made front pages all over the world.

Personally, I still think the Mayas were perfectly capable of building pyramids, inventing mathematics, studying astronomy, and learning how to write strictly on their own. . . the inventiveness of the human spirit is universal, old world or new . . . but whether his theory turns out to be right or wrong, Thor Heyerdahl is doing the world a great service by dramatizing the horror of oil pollution to the modern world as well as dramatizing his ideas about the ancient world.

Summer Squash Arrives

Summer harvest brings summer squash! The highlight of the produce counter this week, according to the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, is young summer squash just waiting to be purchased. Summer squash is harvested while still immature -- at a stage when the entire squash is tender and edible.

The yellow straight-neck and the green zucchini are the most popular ones here in New England. Summer squash should be firm, well formed and have a glossy, fresh appearance. Summer squash with a dull appearance and a hard, tough, rind, is stale and over-ripe -- such squash will usually have enlarged seeds, and a dry, stringy flesh. Fresh summer squash should be scrubbed clean, but does not need to be pared. It may be left whole or cut into slices or cubes. Squash is best cooked in a very small amount of water (about 1/4 cup for 6 servings) in a covered saucepan for 8-15 minutes. For flavoring during cooking, add finely chopped onions or chives, a tablespoon of butter or margarine, or a bouillon cube. A sprinkle of sugar gives summer squash a fresher taste. Cook over low heat until squash is tender, then uncover and boil rapidly for a few minutes to evaporate excess liquid. Be careful not to overcook. Summer squash will have better acceptance when it is slightly crisp and holds its shape. For baking, whole, young zucchini squash is a good choice. When almost cooked, slit lengthwise and add strips of cheese. Bake until cheese is melted.

As the heat engulfs all New England, tables are graced with a variety of cool crisp salads, and since Massachusetts celebrates Sandwich and Salad Month in August, why not try our own Bay State salad dressing:

1 cup tomato juice (made from luscious Mass. grown tomatoes), 1/3 cup white vinegar (or lemon juice), 1/2 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon grated onion.

Shake ingredients to mix well. If you like a sweeter dressing, add one tablespoon of finely granulated sugar before shaking. You may also add a small amount of minced garlic to your taste before shaking. If, however, you prefer a more delicate garlic taste, simply rub the inside of your salad bowl with a crushed garlic clove, then discard the clove.

Cong. Morse Will Seek Re-Election

Congressman F. Bradford Morse (R., Mass.) today announced his intention to seek re-election in Massachusetts' Fifth Congressional District. In declaring his candidacy, Morse stated:

"For the last ten years it has been my great privilege to serve the people of the Fifth District of Massachusetts as Representative to the Congress of the United States. I have been honored since 1960 by their support and encouragement, and I have earnestly sought to merit their confidence through conscientious and creative work on their behalf.

"The past decade has been one of unprecedented vigor and growth for the Fifth District, and I am proud to have had a hand in shaping its development. I want that progress to continue in the 1970's, and I would like to do my part in helping to extend to all Americans the benefits of these achievements.

"Accordingly, I shall seek the endorsement of the people of the Fifth District for a sixth term in the House of Representatives. It is my hope that they will grant me the privilege of serving in the 92nd Congress, so that we may continue our work together in furthering the goals to which all Americans aspire.

"This new decade is one of great challenge. We face threats to our physical environment; ills in our blighted urban centers; problems of economic dislocation; growing strains upon our educational system; public responsibilities for the poor, the aged, and the disabled; encroachments upon fundamental human rights; demands to make our governmental institutions more responsive to the people; and the proven necessity of a general reordering of our national priorities."

Hennessey Seeking Re-Election

Essex Superior Court Clerk Philip A. Hennessey of Peabody announces that he is seeking re-election to a third term.

Elected to office in 1956 to fill an unexpired term due to a death, Clerk Hennessey has since been re-elected to full six year terms in 1958 and 1964. In the latter election he polled nearly 177,000 votes -- the most any Essex County office holder has ever received as he defeated his opponent by nearly 86,000 votes.

Clerk Hennessey is a career employee. His first position was a junior messenger at the Essex Probate Court. In the following years he was promoted to a junior, senior and then principal clerk. He was then selected a Court Officer by the Probate Court Judges.

Clerk Hennessey has been one of the leaders in attempting to obtain expanded Superior Court facilities to replace the outdated buildings in Salem, Newburyport and Lawrence and to aid in combating the increase in civil and criminal litigation.

The Clerk resides at 20 Lincoln Road in Peabody with his wife, Mary Shea Hennessey and his children, John P., a Probation Officer at Salem District Court, and Mary N., a senior at the University of Massachusetts. Another daughter, Mrs. Helen M. Eidt resides in New York City.

Clerk Hennessey is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Elks, and St. John's Holy Name Society in Peabody. He is a disabled American Veteran, having served in the United States Navy during World War II as a member of an anti-submarine squadron.

Pewter Exhibit In Reading

The Parker Tavern, the 1694 saltbox house-museum at 103 Washington Street, just south of the railroad station in Reading, will provide the appropriate setting for a one day loan exhibition of pewter on Thursday, Aug. 13 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The household inventories of the early owners of the house listed pewter utensils. The Reading Antiquarian Society has assembled from members and friends a representative collection of American and foreign pewter and britannia such as could have been used in the house.

The spoons show a variety of handles such as slip top, trifid and the more conventional. A spoon mould is included with a spoon poured in it, to show how it was made. Some of the plates, dishes and chargers will be displayed bottom-side-up to show the maker's raised touch mark and the owner's incised initial or name. Porringers, useful pieces for serving porridge, may be plain with the handle cast in the same piece with the bowl or applied displaying the artistic ingenuity of the maker.

Pitchers, tankards, beakers, a set of measures and a funnel are all associated with drinks, and drinking played a big part in the life of the colonies, and early republic. The bodies were straight sided or tulip shaped, the bases raised or plain. A table setting may not have had the gleam of silver but the design of the pieces certainly was neither dull nor monotonous.

Some of the ink wells in the show must have graced the desks of well-to-do gentlemen for their shapes represent more than utility.

Lighting devises -- candlesticks, lamps for whale oil or burning fluid -- were included in the stock and trade of pewterers and britannia makers. Many of the marked pieces in the show are by New England craftsmen.

Drama Group To Be Entertained

Negotiations

Collective bargaining is with us as a part of the operation of municipal government.

It was granted several years ago by action of the state legislature.

In the years since its passage as a statutory requirement by municipalities, it has brought with it problems of considerable magnitude.

The law allows municipal employees to sit at the bargaining table and negotiate salaries and fringe benefits. This includes school teachers, as well as secretaries, laborers, firefighters and police officers.

In the time it has been part of municipal government, collective bargaining has brought considerable problems to municipal government.

Here, in Andover, several months elapsed before a contract was signed between public works employees and the town.

The union representing the fire department has yet to come to an agreement on a new contract.

The problem appears to be that administrators have not been able to cope with this new, legal right of municipal employees, who have the ability to obtain professional negotiators.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin recently stated that one of the problems of the '70s will be in the area of collective bargaining.

He has retained an attorney to be part of the collective bargaining process with municipal employees. The man retained, reportedly has represented both sides of the bargaining table in other communities.

The professional negotiator is Atty. James Grady who has worked with Town Manager Austin previously when he was executive secretary in Sharon. Local employees report having information that he has represented labor's point of view in some communities.

This new process of collective bargaining, will be with us for some time. It is part of municipal life. It will, annually, affect the lives of all Andover residents, as well as those throughout the state.

It is, then, imperative, that administrators be aware of problems and be prepared to meet the challenge.

The collective bargaining process is here to stay and should be met with professional approach in order to protect both the community and its employees.

Lawrence has had its problems with such a process. Andover has come near to having problems.

We would hope that here, in Andover, amicable agreements could be reached on both sides of the bargaining table without lengthy debate and costly discussion.

Water

There was a message handed to the town recently by Public Works Director Robert McQuade.

It was in the form of a memorandum to the selectmen regarding water consumption.

Written into the memo was further emphasis on the growing pains of Andover.

McQuade informed the board that the town was now averaging consumption of 3,000,000 gallons of water per day. The safe yield is $2,500,000.

What it means, essentially, is that Andover is now above the safe daily needs, but is meeting the demand for the time being.

This will be valuable information for local officials when they travel to New York next week to meet with federal authorities seeking financial assistance to build a water treatment plant at Haggett's pond.

None of us look forward to increased expenses, which most assuredly will be forthcoming through construction of such a plant.

But modern day living, watering lawns, disposal units, modern laundry conveniences, and the backyard pools, coupled with municipal growth, have placed a burden on the town's water supply, with incumbent problems.

An Increase

The selectmen were informed recently that the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical High school will be taking over the Practical Nurse course now conducted by the Lawrence Vocational school.

The board was informed that Lawrence would be paying the costs until the end of the year.

Supposedly this means that members of the district, which includes Andover, will absorb the costs beginning Jan. 1.

While we have no objection to the Vocational school program, or to the nursing program, it seems wise to be alert to the programs and plans of the regional school.

Rising costs and increased programs will annually place a burden on the participating communities.

Regional plans are often overlooked as they continue to grow.

We would hope that such will not be the case with this most worthwhile educational endeavor.

Centennial

England is devoting a great deal of attention to Charles Dickens this year of 1970 because it marks the 100th year after his death. Many new books are being published to celebrate this event. Some of the most important critical works about one of history's greatest novelists now on display at Memorial Hall Library include the following:

1. Charles Dickens by Una Pope-Hennessy. N.Y., Howell, Soskin, Inc., 1946. In this important biography, a well-known writer from England tells about Dickens' unhappy youth, his love life, the development of his career, and his relationship to the public world of Victorianism.

2. Charles Dickens -- the world of his novels, by J. Hillis Miller. Cambridge, Mass., Harvard Univ. Press, 1965. An American professor at M.I.T., Mr. Miller presents the characters in some of the most widely read novels and shows how Dickens carried his people through a cold, unfriendly world such as he himself knew in his youth, and then described their adjustment to ad-

Off The Top Of The Desk

A public health department in a nearby community was confronted with a rather unusual problem recently.

Seems a woman from an apartment complex brought an unusual specimen of an insect which had been invading the rugs.

"Silverwings," she informed the health agent.

The jar was kept for examination by an entomologist, with a promise of a report to be given the problemed woman.

When the entomologist arrived familiar with insects of all types, shapes and sizes, he carefully scrutinized the rare species in the jar obviously a bit perplexed.

He opened the jar and placed the specimen on a piece of paper and promptly burst out in laughter.

"What's so funny," he was asked.

"These happen to be fingernail clippings," he replied.

Ever realize that as you are driving around, this time of year, or any time, for that matter, that you're carrying a valuable piece of life saving equipment.

The spare tire of a standard American car, properly inflated will float like a life ring and give life-saving buoyancy to persons in distress in water.

The spare tire should not be used as a floating toy, but can be utilized in emergencies.

Much comment has been made within recent months regarding the high cost of government.

With that in mind, several newspapers have made editorial comment on the cost of a recent edition of the Congresional Record, the official recording of the daily events of the U. S. Congress.

The issue which was 112 pages in length, cost $12,992. The day's record included events of the U.S. Senate which met for eight seconds, while the House did not meet at all.

It costs $116 per page to publish the record.

Along with recording the business of the day there are extensions of the record which permit senators and congressmen to place therein speeches or other oratory, sometimes even recipes.

All an indication of the value of our tax dollar to our entrusted representatives.

There have been all sorts of condemnations of popular foods, most recently, of course, breakfast cereals.

But, take heart, the All-American, is getting a boost.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, has now insisted that the hot dog must be limited to 30 percent fat content.

That grilled beauty now has to have a lot more meat than formerly allowed, according to U. S. D. A. inspection which oversees more than 1.5 billion pounds of hot dogs annually.

In view of the recent problems with smog along the eastern seaboard, the following item from the Massachusetts Department of Commerce publication seems appropriate.

London, which has been noted for its heavy fogs, has changed that lately. Stars are starrier, the grass is greener, and the air is far cleaner than it was a dozen years ago. The British did it in typical British fashion. They outlawed smog with a law called the Clean Air Act.

London hasn't had a bad smog

Ecology Contest At Fair

Noting that ecology is inextricably entwined with all the agricultural sciences, directors of Topsfield Fair have announced introduction of two competitive ecology categories for the 1970 Fair, Sept. 5 through 12.

With air and water pollution and conservation at national crisis status, the Fair hopes to inspire greater individual interest and effort toward solution by offering cash awards for outstanding environmental exhibits for teenagers, and for adults 20 and over, including senior citizens, whose concern for the kind of country they are leaving their children is well known.

Cash awards of $100, first prize, $50 and $25 for second and third will be given the youngsters and oldsters for winning exhibits in the wide area of conservation, pollution and beautification.

Rules are simple. Physical or descriptive photographic evidence of a completed ecological project or a project in an advanced stage will be acceptable. Entry forms maybe obtained by writing General Manager, Topsfield Fair, Topsfield, Mass. 01983. Student science exhibits, land reclamation, forestry, water conservation, backyard improvement projects -- all fall within the range of desired exhibits. Entries may be made by groups as well as individuals.

Entries will be judged by state and area health and conservation officials. Directors of the sponsoring Essex Agricultural Society hope that this year's innovative competition will become a permanent department of the Fair.

NEW SURFACE. Lowell Street from the Route 93 interchange to a point near the West Parish cemetery has been completely hot topped making for a smooth surface all the way into Shawsheen Square. The work was completed recently.

Most books on the subject report that Catherine Dickens was a poor wife to Charles and that she deserved the ill treatment he gave her. This author stands up for Mrs. Dickens, describing her as very capable, intelligent and sensitive.

The trustees of the library are to be congratulated for underwriting such a popular program. Without their wholehearted financial cooperation the cost of the program might have been prohibitive. Some of the films cost $42.00 rental fee, and the least expensive was $29.50.

School Registration At Temple

Mrs. Walter Beck and Mrs. Milton Greenberg, co-chairmen of the Religious School at Temple Emanuel of the Merrimack Valley, at 101 West Forest St., Lowell, announced that registration for the Religious School will be held on Monday, September 14, between 7:30 and 9 p.m.

The Religious School now starts its 22nd consecutive year, with a curriculum which has many times been cited by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations for its quality and effectiveness. The school program offers complete instruction from grade one through Confirmation.

Staffed by experienced personnel, with Rabbi S. Daniel Breslauer in charge of the Confirmation Class, the school will again have as its principal Walter Beck, whose supervision has, over the years, been so successful. Mr. Beck has stated that the first session of the school will be on Sunday, September 20, at 10 a.m.

Nerve Gas Or Nerve?

By Polly Bradley

Yesterday I was hiking up and down the aisles of the supermarket when I noticed a bewildered woman at the Shampoo and Hand Lotion counter picking up bottles, turning them in her hands, putting them down . . . just going along the whole counter, and muttering to herself "polyvinyl chloride, polyvinyl chloride, polyvinyl chloride . . ."

Well, the supermarket is the home of bewilderment, and makes me mutter to myself, too, so I wasn't surprised, but the words "polyvinyl chloride" caught my eye.

Aha! I thought. Maybe I can be neighborly here.

"Can I help you?" I asked politely.

She looked embarrassed, but answered, "I'm looking for shampoo that's not in a polyvinyl chloride container. I hear it's one of the worst polluters, and I don't want to add any nerve gas or hydrochloric acid to the air. But what in the name of Earth Day is polyvinyl chloride?"

I started picking up bottles, turning them around, and putting them down, muttering all the while.

"I think this is one," I said finally. "Clear plastic . . . looks like glass, but feels like plastic. It's not rigid. See, you can squeeze it and it gives."

She squeezed it. "I hope I like the shampoo in it."

"No! No! No!" I yelled as everyone turned and stared. "That's what you are not supposed to buy."

She thrust it back as if it were solid nerve gas, instead of just potential nerve gas, wiped her hands carefully on her slacks, and picked up another shampoo.

"This is the kind I always buy anyway," she said joyfully. "I know I like it."

"Wonderful," I said.

"Thank you so much," she said.

We chatted a bit, then as we parted she peered into my basket. "What are you going with that non-returnable bottle?" she said accusingly. "Don't you know that glass adds 15 million tons of waste to the nation's trash pile every year?"

I cringed. "But my husband likes that kind of soft drink and no other."

"Educate him!" she said, and stalked back to the Ginger Ale and Root Beer counter with my bottle.

I thought she had a lot of nerve, even without using polyvinyl chloride bottles made of potential phosgene (that's nerve gas.)

However, given the choice of facing an angry woman right now or a kindhearted husband that evening, who might not even notice if I served him iced tea instead of his favorite drink, I didn't go back after the guilty bottle.

Anyway, my conscience had been bothering me all up and down the supermarket aisles over that non-returnable bottle.

Condors Rapidly Vanishing

Some things seem beyond human help.

Unfortunately, the rare California condor may be among them.

The condor exists as a remnant from the prehistoric age when saber-toothed tigers and mastadons roamed the earth. It attains a wing-spread of nine feet and a weight of 20 pounds, making it not only a relic of the Ice Age but also the largest living land bird of North America.

While no one knows precisely how many California condors remain in the Los Padres National Forest outside Los Angeles, most authorities are certain that there are fewer than fifty. But, there certainly are as many as twenty-five, since flocks that size have been observed soaring over the summit of Mt. Pinos during the deer-hunting season.

Recently it was our privilege to visit the Sespe Condor Refuge within the Los Padres Forest where all the remaining condors nest. With me were Allen H. Morgan of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, Tudor Richards of the Audubon Society of New Hampshire and Alfred L. Hawkes of the Audubon Society of Rhode Island. We were split into different groups, resulting in Morgan and I seeing one condor; Hawkes and Richards seeing three.

"Our" condor saw us and the rangers with us and flew over fairly low to inspect our physical conditions. When you're a condor, you must pay attention to the possible location of tomorrow's meal. Condors do not kill. They depend upon the hostile desert climate providing them food.

Since condors do not kill, John Borneman, condor maturalist for the National Audubon Society, has tried placing a deer carcass on the known flyways which the condors travel in search of food. Although condors make a fair living during the deer season searching the arid mountain-sides and valleys for wounded deer that escape and die, Borneman found that they ignored any carcass placed within easy access.

The birds do not breed until they are five or six years old. Then the female lays no more than one egg every other year. Condors spend an average of 45 days incubating the egg; five months brooding the chick and nine months feeding it after it has left the nest.

The remarkable thing about the condor -- besides its size -- is its ability to soar. Condors may range 100 miles or more from the roost in their daily search for food. But, once they are airborne, condors seldom flap a wing. Instead, they hang in the sky on rigid horizontal wings, drifting from up-draft to up-draft as they ride the hot air thermals rising from the barrens beneath them.

Wilson To Give Concerts At Castle

The fall series includes a Salute to Autumn on October 24, Patriotic Pops on November 14 and Christmas at the Castle on December 5, 12 and 18. With the exception of December 18 (Friday) all programs are on Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m.

On August 8 the program will include: Overture to Light Cavalry by von Suppe; theme from The Apartment; The Gelida Manina (LaBoheme) by Puccini; The Lilt of Paris by Arr. Kenneth Wilson; Till by Charles Danvers; the Windsor Melody by Noel Gay; March of the Little Lead Soldiers by Pierne; Night in Monterey from Four Dubious Conceits by Richard Purvis; Sabre Dance by Khachaturian.

After intermission the concert concludes with Espana Cani by Marquina; Shenandoah, a Sea Chantey; Music from Gigi by Lerner and Loewe; Dance of the Sugar-Plum Fairies by Tschaikowsky; Dagger Dance by Victor Herbert; Granada by Lara; Bolero by Maurice Ravel; Humming Chorus from the opera Madame Butterfly by Puccini and A Salute to the Armed Forces arranged by Wilson.

Tickets should be ordered in advance by mail or telephone to the Hammond Castle, 283-2080.

RECREATION

out of the area with participants and spectators.

As for all this activity and its popularity it seems ironical that it is conducted on what could be termed a limited budget.

Some of the activity is conducted under the direction of Recreation Department Director Leslie Bartow. The fields are maintained, of course, by the town public works department and buildings by the school department.

Activities in the high school are under the direction of James Carroll, director of the Student Activity Center. The SAC program conducted throughout the school year in the evenings was extended this year to include summer offerings for those who wanted to participate. Obviously it won wide response.

There is one activity which is not supervised or part of any planned program.

It is the practice of motorcyclists who invade the area occasionally and get their kicks through the dangerous practice of riding up and down the hills.

But this isn't part of what has proven to be a most successful and entertaining program for Andover's residents.

Who said everyone leaves town in the summer?

CAREER EXECUTIVE GRADUATES – Patrick J. Ruttle receives graduation certificate from Randolph W. Thrower (l.), Commissioner of Internal Revenue, after graduating from the 1970 IRS' executive development and selection program. Mr. Ruttle, formerly Chief of the Management Staff in the Central Regional Office in Cincinnati, has been reassigned as Assistant Service Center Director in the North Atlantic Service Center in Andover. For the past 14 years, the executive development and selection program has been conducted by the IRS to identify and develop candidates with executive potential for key IRS positions throughout the country.

Mockingbird Sings At Night

The mockingbird now sings at night in Massachusetts.

This summer seems to be the first in which night singing in the commonwealth has been common. James Baird of the Massachusetts Audubon Society has received 15 to 20 reports each week in late July from persons who had heard mockingbirds singing in the middle of the night.

"There have been quite a few mockingbirds in Massachusetts since the early 1960s," Baird said. "I don't know why they have not sung at night commonly much earlier. As many people know, the mockingbird is famed for its night solos in the South where it is a common bird."

Baird suspects that the recent buildup in mockingbird populations in southern New England may have something to do with night singing. For the last couple of years, Christmas bird counters have reported somewhere around 90 mockingbirds wintering on Cape Cod. In addition, mockingbirds are spreading successfully in the northern states. Hilbert Siegler of the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department discovered three mockingbirds in Concord, N.H. in June of 1965. At the time, mockingbirds were a rarity in New Hampshire. A couple weeks ago I saw a pair of mockingbirds in the Newington, N.H. cemetery off Great Bay. From their actions, it seemed apparent they had a nest nearby.

Perhaps all this activity among mockingbirds in New England would have passed unnoticed were it not for Howard N. Fowler, managing editor of The Mansfield News. Fowler recently dropped me a note that mockingbirds were tuning up at 2 a.m. in the town and raising considerable interest among residents. As Fowler noted, the average New Englander refuses to believe that mockingbirds exist north of the Mason-Dixon Line.

The truth seems to be that mockingbirds keep trying to colonize New England but extremely cold winters thin their ranks. Edward Howe Forbush reported a buildup of mockingbirds in New England that crashed in the cold winter of 1919-1920. Later Ludlow Griscom reported an increasing population that was depressed by the bitter winter in 1947-1948. Unlike sparrows and other common wintering birds, mockingbirds do not eat grain. They survive the winter on wild berries and fruit--many would starve except for the peanut butter that birders put out for birds.

While it's fairly easy to understand why New Englanders would be skeptical about mockingbirds living in the region, Fowler's comment that many persons have inquired about the presence of mourning doves in his area opens the question of why so many persons consider these birds unusual here. Mourning doves regularly breed in most sections of New England. Many even winter as far north as southern New Hampshire and Maine.

Yet Fowler's comments are true, for all major conservation organizations in New England receive frequent calls from residents who consider mourning doves unusual.

The U.S. Department of Labor will match dollar-for-dollar any funds contributed by private industry and individuals to create additional jobs this summer for needy youths. This unique plan was proposed by the National Alliance of Businessmen, which volunteered to solicit the private contributions.

The U.S. Army Air Corps was created on July 2, 1926.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

Andover's senior citizens are planning another trip!

On Tuesday, Aug. 18, a chartered bus will transport them to Rockport for the day. Leaving at 10 in the morning, they will return late that afternoon. Lunch will be left to individuals, since there is a wide variety of eating places available in Rockport. The bus fare of $1.80 must be paid at the time of reservation. Reservations should be made promptly at The Haven, 15 Barnard St.

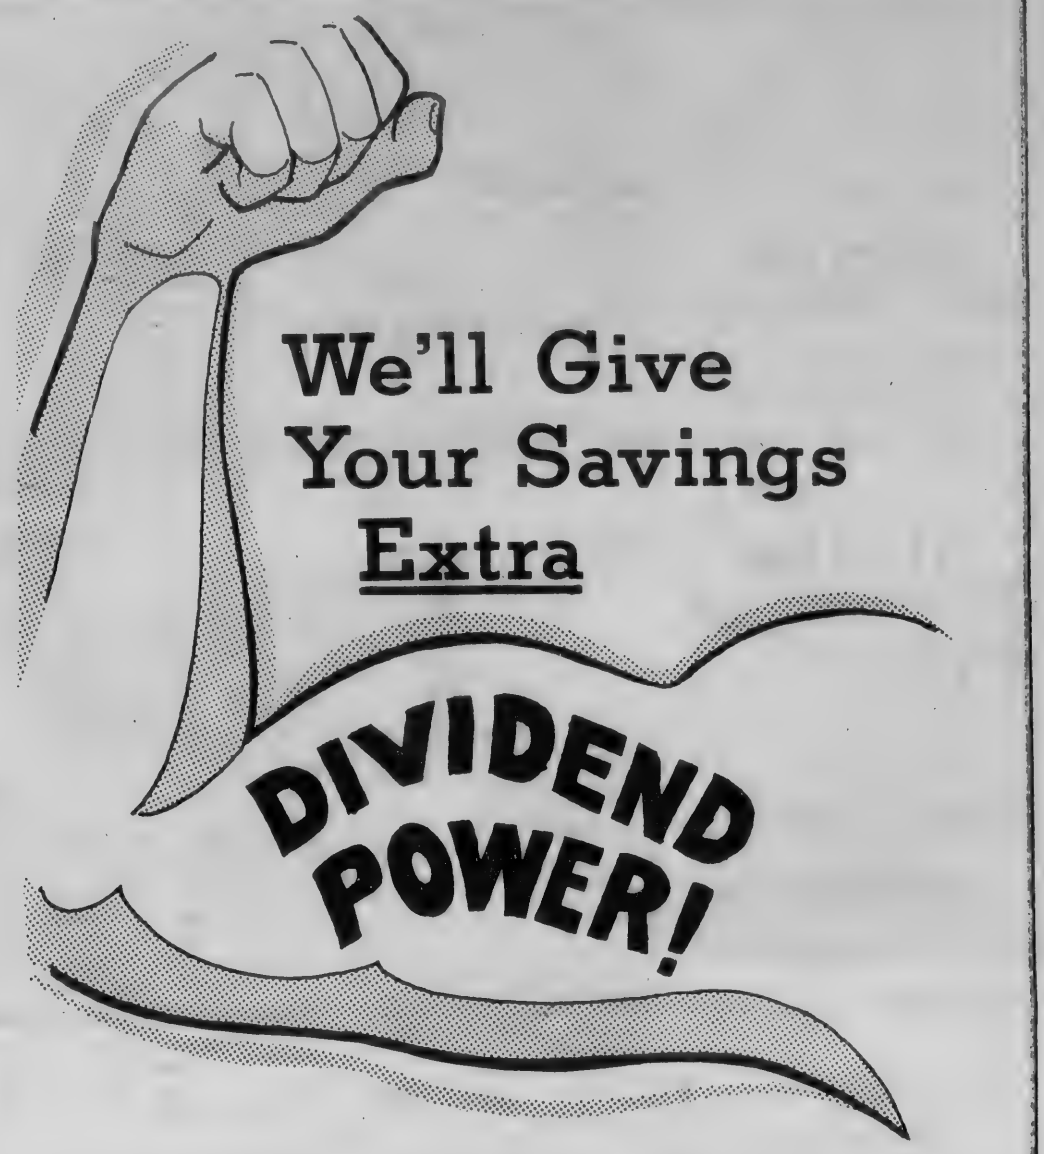

All Andover citizens over 60 are eligible to participate in the activities of The Haven, Drop-In Center for older Andoverites, sponsors of this and many other day-trips. The Haven is a function of the Andover Council on Aging.

Why not stop by The Haven today?

Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected governor of New York on Nov. 8, 1928.

A board of park commissioners was appointed in Andover in 1897.

TENNIS ANYONE? Andover high school playfields are busy places these summer evenings. Here one of the tennis courts is filled with activity, while fields are used for softball, football and soccer.

Condition Of Parks Is Praised

The park department of the Department of Public Works has been praised by Little League officials for the care of fields during the local season as well as the regional playoffs.

Richard Neal, in a letter to Highway and Park superintendent Stanley Chlebowski, has commented on the condition of the fields, not only from a local standpoint, but from words passed on by visiting managers and coaches.

His letter to the superintendent reads:

"May I take this opportunity to extend to you and the men of your department my appreciation for the excellent work done on the Little League Field at the Playstead during the past season and the recent Little League Tournament.

"Many favorable comments were passed on by the visiting teams from neighboring towns relative to the condition of this field. The boys of Andover are certainly fortunate to have such fine facilities on which to play."

Offer Declined

The selectmen have agreed to hold to their $740 offer made to the Forbes family for two acres off Lowell street to be taken for a new school site.

The Forbes had requested the board to consider a purchase price of $1,000.

After considering the proposal and the figures supplied the town by the appraisers, the board decided to stay with the original offer.

The land abuts the property, consisting of several acres, to be acquired from Harry Axelrod.

Registration Of Voters To Close

Saturday, Aug. 15 will be the final day to register to vote for the September state primary election.

The board of registrars of voters will meet at the town house from noon to 10 p.m., for those who wish to cast ballots for the primary.

Voters may also register during the daily office hours of the town clerk from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The primary will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 15, with the polls open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

There will be another registration session beginning after the primary for those who wish to become eligible for the November state election.

Voters registering now, will also be eligible to participate in the special annual town meeting to be held Monday, Oct. 5.

Repairs To Roads Requested

The selectmen have asked the town manager to contact contractors to make some street repairs due to deteriorating conditions.

Selectman George E. Heseltine noted that the intersection of Chestnut and Bartlet streets has a bad dip where installation of pipes for the Rogers Brook project took place.

He felt the contractor, who returned here about a year ago to make repairs, should once again come back and correct conditions there.

The manager was asked to contact state authorities, which supervised the work, to look into the situation.

Another problem area is along portions of High street and Haverhill street, where new utility lines were put in for new apartments.

Selectman Roger W. Collins had asked that the depression in the road be repaired some time ago. He noted this past week that the condition, while some repair was made, is again dangerous.

The manager has been asked to look into this situation as well.

May Name Anniversary Committee

Appointment of a committee to plan and conduct a program for the 325th anniversary of the incorporation of the town may be made within a week or so.

Selectman Sidney P. White, chairman of the anniversary committee, said this week, he has been talking with people he feels would be interested in serving. He anticipates that he will have a complete list for presentation to his colleagues within the week.

The anniversary will be observed next year.

White said that the persons he has talked with have willingly and readily expressed interest in serving. He said that he has attempted to compose a committee representing various facets of the community's life.

One of the first items which must be decided by the committee is whether the anniversary observance should be combined with the Fourth of July celebration.

Some selectmen at the urging of member George E. Heseltine feel the two should be combined, but the decision has been left up to the two planning committees to work out.

A total of $5,000 was approved at the annual town meeting for the anniversary committee.

The idea of an observance was proposed and supported by White.

Before a man can wake up and find himself famous, it is necessary that he wake up and find himself, said Emerson.

provide apartments for low-income or elderly families.

Last week, the selectmen were informed that there was lack of adequate water supply in the area for fire protection.

Atty. Eaton said this week, that the petition would be withdrawn at this time in order that the problem could be resolved by engineers.

The hearing was scheduled along with four others by the zoning board of appeals for tonight at 7:30 in the second floor meeting room of Memorial Hall library.

Pros And Cons Exist On Mall Gatherings

The kids who gather in the evening on the Mall in Shawsheen Square have their defenders as well as their detractors.

During an informal discussion at Monday's selectmen's meeting, the activities of the young people were criticized by Selectman Sidney P. White who said that townspeople have been upset by the actions in the square.

Selectman George Haseltine said that the youngsters had no place to go.

All members of the board agreed there was an excessive amount of debris, including beer and soft drink cans littering the area.

White said he had heard reports of a park bench being smashed. The suggestion was made that trash barrels be provided for the area.

Police Chief David L. Nicoll said Wednesday that the park bench was broken by a motor vehicle. He said that this was reported to the DPW as it was a property damage insurance case.

The chief said that it is true that lots of kids gather at the Mall but he said that his department had received only two complaints, one of which was withdrawn.

He said that the withdrawn complaint was made by a woman who later went to the Mall personally and talked with the group. She left by saying:

"There are a lot of nice kids down there."

One of the group of boys who frequents the area said that a trash barrel had been provided by the young people themselves.

He added that there is a move underway to seek a meeting with Town Manager J. Maynard Austin to discuss the situation in an effort to work out some self-policing of the area.

The parking lot at the Mall is used during the day by employees of firms in Shawsheen. When it is vacant at night, the young people take advantage of the parking area to gather there.

A possible solution to the problem may come with the opening of the old Central fire station as a drop-in center for young people.

Central Station Unit Moves

After moving into their spanking new station at the Public Safety Center Monday, Central station fire fighters answered their first call at 3:38 p.m. Tuesday. It was for a minor fire, but it gave the men a workout from the new location.

The change-over from the old station on Park St. has been going on for some weeks, but the final move of apparatus was made Monday when electricians completed work on the console for signal transmission at the new station.

The Andover police moved into the new Safety Center on July 6.

With the departure of the fire apparatus from the old station, the building will be taken over as a drop-in center by a group of students who have been using a room at the high school.

The Student Activities Center (SAC) have plans for furnishing the old fire station and have been given permission by the selectmen to use the building until the beginning of the school year.

Because of the delay in the firefighters vacating the building, it is possible the selectmen will extend the time for the use of the building by the students. This will be recommended by the adult advisors who are headed by James Carroll, director of the SAC.

At a meeting of the building committee Tuesday night at the station, a number of unfinished items were found, many of them minor, but some which may cost additional funds.

Among the most important things yet to be completed are the installation of the incinerator, which will call for gas piping; wiring of the air compressor; piping of the generator; and wiring of the electric hoists.

Completion of the generator is of the first order as this would be needed in the event of an electrical failure.

Work will have to be done on

Recreation Outing

The Andover Recreation Department's annual Canobie Lake Park outing has been scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 19.

All regular Playground participants are eligible to go and may register now at their own Playground for tickets.

The tickets at 75¢, will cover admission, bus service, milk and ice cream. Children will bring their own lunches.

The buses will leave the playgrounds at 11 a.m. and return at approximately 3:30 p.m. Children under eight must be accompanied by an adult. All children who travel by Playground bus must return on the bus.

In case of rain, the outing will be scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 20.

Musgrove Building Is Sold

The Musgrove Building in Elm Square, damaged by a roof collapse on June 7, has been sold to a Lawrence group and is scheduled for extensive renovations.

The building was sold by Atty. Samuel Resnik to Commerce Realty Trust which is headed by Atty. Michael J. Batal, Jr. of Batal and Batal, 488 Essex St., Lawrence; George Stern of Wilkinson Insurance Agency, Inc., of the same address; and Robert Webster of the Channell Building Co., Andover. Stern said the selling price was under $100,000.

Commerce Realty Trust modernized a former store building at 488 Essex St., Lawrence, into a most attractive property.

Channell Building Co. did the remodeling of the Lawrence property and is also scheduled to get the contract for rebuilding the damaged Elm Square structure.

Last Chance To Register

Saturday will be the last day to register to vote for the September state primary election.

The board of registrars of voters will meet at the town house from noon to 10 p.m. for those who wish to register.

The primary will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 15, with the polls open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters registering now, will also be elegible to participate in the special annual town meeting to be held Monday, Oct. 5.

Ecology Lecture

The Federal Water Quality Administration is hopeful that the Merrimack River will be restored to some semblance of its original purity by 1980, after more than 130 years of pollution, an audience at Phillips Academy was told the other day.

A history of the stream that forms Massachusetts' northeastern river valley was outlined in slides during a lecture by Arthur F. Johnson, an aquatic biologist of the Federal agency, at a seminar on pollution ecology at the Andover Summer Session at the academy. Johnson, a member of the New England Basins Office, is a resident of Andover.

Johnson told the student audience that salmon left the Merrimack because of pollution in 1850, about the time that the Industrial Revolution was beginning its devastation of natural resources. Textile mills and municipal wastes worked their havoc on the Merrimack.

At one time, Johnson said, salmon was so plentiful, and cheap, that mill owners used it as a daily meal for their workers. Eventually, a state law limited the servings to twice weekly.

Displaying maps drawn in 1966 and equipment for taking water samples, Johnson said considerable progress had been made in the last four years. He demonstrated types of invertebrates, seen under microscopes, that occur in both clean and polluted water.

The Federal biologist also displayed specific examples taken from various parts of New England, both from streams and lakes and from the ocean. He told how an aquatic biologist repairs to the laboratory with his samples and writes up his reports.

In addition to the Merrimack studies, Johnson also told of projects he had worked on in Boston, Salem and Beverly harbors.

Candidates Take Stands

Two candidates for the office of representative from the 13th Essex District which includes Precincts 1, 5 and 6 in Andover and all of North Andover, agree that the size of the house of representatives should be cut, but differ on the procedure.

Former Rep. James P. Hurrell of North Andover, who seeks to be returned to the house, is circulating a petition to have the issue put on the ballot in the 13th district as a means of allowing the electorate to express an opinion.

Rep. Paul W. Cronin of Andover, candidate for re-election, says there is no need for putting the issue on the ballot as it will only mean additional expense to the taxpayers.

He says that since both he and Hurrell favor a cut in the size of the house, the voters should already know how they will vote.

The captain, who previously served at Upper Heyford RAF Station, England, graduated in 1960 from Andover High school. He received his B. S. degree and commission in 1964 upon graduation from the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Togetherness is the way of life for the white pelican. In flight their wing beat is synchronized; they nest and rest together, and to catch fish they form a crescent on the water, swim toward the shore, beating their wings and feet as they converge until they feed in the shallow waters.

Birds do not lose their breath, they fly into it. As the pectoral muscles contract to move the wings, they press against the ribs and automatically force the bird to breathe so that the faster it flies the faster it breathes.

"Keep America Beautiful" Is Theme At Topsfield

The 146th annual Topsfield Fair will open at noon Sept. 5 and continue eight days through Sept. 12 when the crowning of the 1970 Miss Essex County will bring to a close the oldest agricultural fair in the nation. The theme will be "Keep America Beautiful."

The Essex County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the Fair, has planned several new, exciting and interesting events.

The new amphitheater near the main gate will provide nightly musical entertainment, the 4-H dress revue, a nightly presentation of the semi-finalists of the Miss Essex County pageant, fashion shows stressing the new midi-look and other special features.

The interest shown to date in the outdoor stage has prompted the Society to sponsor a county-wide contest to select a name for the structure with a prize of $100 to be presented to the person who contributes the name selected.

A county fair innovation in Massachusetts will be daily presentations, Wednesday through Saturday, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in the infield of the dog track. The stable area will be open for Fair visitors to see how the "Mounties" care for their animals.

Dan Hurld's Essex County Farm Yard exhibits and demonstrations will be presented several times each day and will include a program by the Mounted Police.

South America Alive has added four animals to the display, including "the snarler," an attraction sure to draw attention.

Rex 'Trailer will be on hand opening day at 2 p.m. to entertain the small fry at the shell.

A new and thrilling grand show will feature Tahuna and his Polynesian Fire Dancers, in addition to the beauty pageant.

All of these plus the flower show, which promises to be bigger and better than ever, the fruit and vegetable show, home arts displays, 4-H exhibits and the livestock show in addition to the 4-H horse show Saturday and the open horse show on Sunday adds up to the greatest Topsfield Fair on record.

Visitors Here From Scotland

Andover, in whose early history the Scots figured so prominently, was visited this past week by a couple from Galashiels, Scotland. Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Black, formerly of North Andover and now of Miami, Florida, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncan Black, 7 Sweetbriar Lane. The Russells are Mr. Black's aunt and uncle, whom he hadn't seen since he visited them in Scotland as a boy of seven.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell visited points of interest in Andover and the North Shore, including Lexington and Concord, site of the first battle of the war in which America won its independence from Great Britain. They visited friends and relatives in Andover and viewed movies taken of Mrs. Russell's mother now deceased, when she visited this country in 1938. They also visited the cemetery where relatives who had left Scotland and immigrated to this area are buried.

The blue in birds' feathers results from light refraction and not blue pigment. Playgrounds Display Arts, Crafts

Colorful displays of arts and crafts made by children of the five Andover playgrounds were carried out this week under the direction of Patti Neil, arts and crafts supervisor.

Downtown shoppers and those entering the Town House Tuesday stopped to admire the varied items created by the boys and girls. The lawn in front of the municipal building was roped off and the items were placed on tables or hung on lines for public viewing.

PROUD of their creative achievements in arts and crafts on the playgrounds this summer are these youngsters crowded about their supervisor in front of the town hall this week. Scotty Flanagan, with arm in sling, stands beside program director Patti Neil while a group of friends gather around them. The displays in front of the town hall were representative of the works of all playgrounds and consisted of a wide variety of items.

Notes From Playgrounds

Recreation Park

A follow-up track meet was held Aug. 5 at Recreation Park under the auspices of high school boys from Central Catholic, Lawrence.

Cooler weather brought out a far larger group than attended last week's meet. At peak time approximately 150 competitors and spectators were present from the Andover area.

In the running broad jump contest Stephen Stabile took first place in the boys under nine age group with a jump of 8 feet 6 inches. Jerry Stabile jumped 11 feet 8 inches to take first place in the boys 9 - 11 age group and Fred Ramsey came in first in the boys over 12 group with a jump of 14 feet 6 inches. In the same event Tammy Milne jumped 6 feet 3 inches for first place in the girls under nine group and Cindy Romano jumped 10 feet 8 inches in the girls over nine group.

In the 99 yard dash the first place winners in the different age categories were Dean Holbach, Roy Lynch, Fred Ramsey, Maureen McDonald and Cindy Romano.

In the third event, the softball throw, Mark Guilmette threw the ball 159 feet to win in the under nine group. In the 9 - 11 group Jerry Stabile threw his ball 150 feet to win and Bob Campbell reached 208 feet in the over 12 group. For the girls Maureen McDonald won the under nine event with a throw of 21 feet and Cindy Romano of the over nine group reached 215 feet.

Children from Indian Ridge Playground attended as a group and enjoyed a picnic lunch and swim after the meet.

Ballardvale

A three-game Softball Tournament between Indian Ridge and Ballardvale Playground ended with Ballardvale emerging champions in a clear sweep of all three games.

The first game in the series was held Monday morning, Aug. 10, at Ballardvale Playground with Ballardvale scoring 22 to Indian Ridge's 8.

In the afternoon a double-header was played at the Indian Ridge Playground with Ballardvale 13 to Indian Ridge's 8 in the first game. Ballardvale scored 7 in the second game to Indian Ridge's 5.

David Taline of Ballardvale, hit 3 homeruns in the series, one in each game and Ed Fredericks also of Ballardvale, hit one home run for the day.

Ballardvale's winning pitchers were Jamie Nicoll and Danny Taline.

Ballardvale team members were: Tommy Froburg, George Rouff, Doug Spencer, Jim White, Al Fredericks, Bruce Laspesa, Billy Bocotte, Jimmy Fredericks and Merrill Rouff.

Indian Ridge

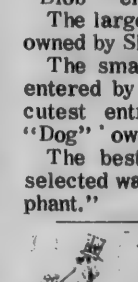

A Stuffed Pet Show, judged by Mrs. Robert Mirosola, was held at Indian Ridge Playground, Wednesday, Aug. 5.

The most unusual winner was "Blob" entered by Judy O'Brien.

The largest entry was "Poodle" owned by Shelley Flannagan.

The smallest "Bo Bear" was entered by Tammy Milne and the cutest entry was judged to be "Dog" owned by Judy O'Brien.

The best all around entry selected was Judy O'Brien's "Elephant."

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

We hear so much of the bad things that teenagers do and the trouble they get into, that I thought it might be nice to write of some of the good things that this age group does.

Recently, one of our five daughters was hospitalized for a week. Our oldest daughter, who will be a senior at Andover High come September, has a group of friends in this same age bracket, which numbers between 20 - 25, boys and girls. Almost 100 percent of the group visited and/or sent cards, homemade gifts, and "bought" gifts.

As our ill daughter is approximately 4 years their junior and our oldest daughter had not made any requests, the fact that a group of teenagers would rally 'round and give moral support to their friend's kid sister, should certainly be worthy of note.

Quinn Writes About Repair Charges

(This is another "Consumer News" column prepared by Attorney General Robert H. Quinn to inform Massachusetts residents about the laws passed to protect them as consumers.)

Labor charges on repair bills are a source of concern and irritation to many consumers. They cannot understand why it costs $16 to have a $2 part installed or why a labor fee is charged for repairs on a guaranteed item.

Repair Charges

Labor charges most frequently apply to repairs for cars and appliances. Each make of car and each brand of appliance has different parts, and the styles and mechanisms of these products change from year to year. Mechanics and service men should be trained to service a wide range of models and they should stock an assortment of necessary parts.

Labor charges are determined generally by one of two methods. The repairman may simply record the number of hours he worked on the repairs and multiply this by his hourly labor charge. Or, the repairman may set standard labor charges according to the kind of work done. This charge is ofter determined by a "flat rate manuel" which states the amount of time each type of repair should take.

My Consumer Protection Division receives many complaints from persons who feel they have been charged unfair prices for repair work. Some consumers complain that they would not have authorized the repairs if they had known they would be charged $15 for work on a $25 iron. Often consumers report that they have been charged for additional "necessary repairs" that a mechanic discovered while working on authorized repairs.

Plan Ahead

To avoid these possible objections to repair bills, the consumer should take precautions when he takes an item in to be repaired. The consumer should ask the repairman for a written estimate of the probable repair cost, and he should leave his telephone number so that the repairman can consult him if unexpected problems come up. These advance measures will help ensure that the repair costs will be acceptable and agreeable to both the consumer and the repairman.

Consumers who have a question about repair bills or a complaint to report should contact my office at the State House in Boston, or in Springfield.

State's Finances

The Commonwealth, Treasurer Crane reported, completed its business for July, 1970, which is the first month of fiscal year 1971, with a cash balance of $48.9 million.

July's cash balance, however, was some $120 million less than the end-of-the-fiscal-year balance in June when a rush of receipts boosted the cash balance to $169.2 million, Treasurer Crane pointed out.

A marked increase in state expenditures for the first month of the new fiscal year.

Rabbi To Lecture

"Judaism and Christianity: Beyond Ecumenism" is the title of a lecture to be given by Rabbi S. Daniel Breslauer of Temple Emanuel of Merrimack Valley on Sunday, August 16, 1970 at 10 a.m. at the Allin Congregational Church, Dedham, Mass.

Rabbi Breslauer will discuss the need for a broad range of religious groups in a Democracy such as America as well as a solid basis of understanding upon which to build co-operation. In the talk, Rabbi Breslauer will describe the program of inter-faith education carried out by Reform Synagogues, and more particularly the courses in comparative religions given at Temple Emanuel.

A pioneer in inter-faith dialogue, Rabbi Breslauer has been president of the Village-Chelsea Conference, an interfaith effort in New York's Greenwich Village, and was for some time Rabbi at The Brotherhood Synagogue in New York, which innovated the idea of church and synagogue co-operation in community ventures. He has lectured widely to both Jewish and Non-Jewish organizations.

Temple Emanuel of Merrimack Valley, located at 101 Forest Street in Lowell, serves members of the Lowell, Chelmsford, Tewksbury, Andover, Lexington, Bedford, Acton, New Hampshire, and Nabnasset communities. Rabbi Breslauer extends welcome to all who wish to join and share in an open exchange of ideas and Jewish experience.

Verrette Heads Ruth Association

The election of Ernie Verrette as president of the Andover Babe Ruth Baseball Association, formerly the Andover Junior League Baseball Association, highlighted a recent meeting of that organization.

A number of things were accomplished at the gathering, as the Association's post-season activities began to move at a fast clip. Offieers and directors were chosen for the coming year, the name was officially changed from "Junior League" to "Babe Ruth Association," plans were finalized for the annual team outing and dates were established for team tryouts.

In addition to the naming of Verrette as president, Gus Fabiani was elected vice-president, Dave Mosher was installed as treasurer and Rick Harrison was named secretary of the Association.

Verrette replaces Bob Flannery in the top post. Flannery held the presidency for three years, during which time he greatly strengthened the Association through his hard work.

Flannery moves over to take a position on the Board of Directors. He has been joined by Bill Moriarty, Bill Ferguson and Dr. William O'Reilly.

George LeFebvre, formerly varsity baseball coach at Central Catholic, was retained as manager of the Andover club. It will be LeFebvre's third season at the helm. In his first two years, LeFebvre has managed the team to winning records and playoff berths in the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League.

Bob Driscoll and Rick Harrison were named as coaches for the 1971 season, with Driscoll moving over from the Senior Little League and Harrison from the regular Little League.

On unanimous vote of the Association members, the name was changed from "Junior League" to "Babe Ruth League." Over a decade ago the organization was incorporated as the Junior League, but the name was altered to conform with the overall league name.

The annual team outing was set for the Recreation park this Saturday, and it will run from 1-5 p.m. Included will be a cookout, a father-son softball game and the awarding of individual team trophies for outstanding play during the past year.

Among the fathers expected to be on the diamond for the softball tilt are Jim White, Ernie Verrette, Dave Mosher, Gus Fabiani, Bob Flannery, Bill O'Reilly, George LeFebvre and Dick Hubbell.

The awards to be presented will be for the Most Valuable Player, and two Most Improved Player trophies.

The annual league banquet, attended by members, parents and friends of all eight teams in the loop, is slated for September. League awards for Rookie-of-the-Year and Most Valuable Player will be presented at that time.

The tryouts, which will be duplicated in the Spring of 1971 before the official season gets underway, are open to all boys between the ages of 13 and 15 who reside in Andover.

They will be held at the Playstead field, behind the East Junior High school, this Sunday and Monday evenings from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Manager LeFebvre, Coach Harrison and all squad members of this year's team will be on hand

Ruth Association Tryouts To Start

By Rick Harrison

George LeFebvre, manager of the Andover Babe Ruth Association's entry in the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League, announces that he will hold tryouts for the club this Sunday and Monday evenings from 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The tryouts, which will be open to all Andover boys between the ages of 13 to 15, will be held at the Playstead Field to the rear of the East Junior High school.

All Senior Little League players, members of this past year's regular Little League All-Star teams, and any other boy between the required ages is invited to attend the tryouts.

Any 15-year-old boy, whose 16th birthday does not fall before Aug. 1, 1971, is eligible to play.

Manager LeFebvre is seeking the best baseball talent available, because the Andover Babe Ruth team plays clubs from Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover. Your attendance and participation is both wanted and needed.

VERRETTE

to instruct and watch the candidates.

Special invitations have been extended to the 30 - 40 boys who were members of the regular Little League All-Star teams to attend the tryouts, but Manager LeFebvre wishes to stress the fact that all boys from the Senior Little League and anyone else interested is welcome.

The Babe Ruth Association fields one team of Andover boys who are selected because of outstanding baseball ability. The objective of the Association is to implant firmly in the youth of Andover the ideals of good sportsmanship, honesty, loyalty and courage.

The boys play teams from Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover in competition for the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League championship. The season begins early in June and ends in August. In addition, a Greater-Lawrence All-Star Babe Ruth club is chosen during the year to compete in a state-wide and National Tournament.

The past season, the Andover Babe Ruth entry finished the regular campaign in a tie for second place with a good 14 - 7 record. Methuen won the regular season crown, with Andover, South Lawrence West and North Lawrence tied for the runner-up spot.

North Lawrence won a flip of the coin to unofficially place second, for purposes of pairing the teams for the playoffs. Andover drew Methuen in the playoff semi-finals. The locals won a 2 - 1 seat-squirmer to start the best-of-three set at Methuen, but the champs came back to post 3 - 2 and 5 - 2 victories at Andover, knocking Andover out of the playoffs.

Bruce LeFebvre led the club in batting with an average of better than .300. Rookie Keith Verrette, after battling LeFebvre for the team batting title most of the year, finished near the .290 mark.

Other consistent hitters during the season included Jeff Towne, Terry Murphy, Scott White and Eddie Flannery.

The balance of the sc is Dave Hubbell, Chuck Parisi, Bob Driscoll, Dave Mosher, Steve Fabiani, Kenny Hubbell, Bill O'Reilly and Tom LaPointe.

LeFebvre, Mosher and Fabiani handled the bulk of the hurling chores. LeFebvre came up with a no-hitter early in the season, but ironically lost the game, 3 - 1. He and Mosher also had one-hitters along the way.

Bigger and better things are in store for the Association during the coming year.

Policy

The Central fire station is soon to become a thing of the past, and unfortunately, apparently some of the policies of public service which were a part of the department.

Abandoned is public use of the town's ambulance for taking patients to Boston hospitals.

The ambulance will transport Andover residents to Lawrence hospitals, but arrangements must be made with private ambulance service, if a resident is in need of treatment out of town.

The policy apparently has the approval of the board of selectmen.

For a brief time, Andover had a private ambulance service.

The private carrier had to end the service due to slow payment by insurance companies, thus a personal financial problem.

Now the town has seen fit to establish a policy of limiting its service.

It does not seem right, since the townspeople have approved the payment of several thousand dollars for the emergency vehicle, as well as payment of trained men to to man the ambulance.

We would discourage misuse of this emergency vehicle, but when the need is there, then Andover residents should be able to call upon the fire department to respond with its life saving equipment.

Surrounding communities provide the service for which the taxpayers willingly pay.

The service is available 24 hours a day and the departments travel beyond Greater Lawrence points.

If emergency treatment is needed in Boston, then the patient is brought to what is considered one of the greatest medical centers in the nation.

This service should likewise be available to Andover residents.

In another policy change, as the new fire station opens, there will no longer be any alarms sounded.

This means that no longer will there be the traditional alarm sounded at 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Nor will there be the time honored no school signals sounded in the morning and at noon, indicating cancellation of classes due to inclement weather.

Also, mutual aid calls from surrounding communities will be eliminated.

While there may be some justification for doing away with some sounding of alarms, due to modern technology, we still would like to hear the routine morning and evening signals.

Modern communication systems are fine, but power failures, etc. always can lead to a need for alternate service.

This the fire department has supplied over the years.

Let's still have an alarm at 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., if only to let us know our public safety people are on duty and available if needed.

For that, alone, the signal would prove worthwhile.

VJ Day

We observe this week a momentous occasion, the anniversary of the end of World War II.

V J Day signalled the conclusion of hostilities which began with "that" day which will live in infamy, Dec. 7, 1941, when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor.

With Japan's surrender, 25 years ago, a world settled back in what was hoped to be permanent peace.

It existed for too short a time.

Today, 25 years later, we remain in an unrestful, wartorn world.

We are engaged in what is considered to be one of the most unpopular conflicts in the history of this nation, the Vietnam conflict.

It has divided our country as never before.

So the sacrifices of thousands who laid down their lives in World War II would appear to have been in vain.

But not really.

We are a strong nation, built on freedom and democracy.

We feel that as a nation, even through current unrest, the general public still is cognizant of the sacrifices of our heroes of both world wars, Korea, Vietnam, and other conflicts.

Maybe as the anniversary of V J Day comes about, it is a good time to rededicate ourselves to the loyalty and bravery of those who were willing to sacrifice to preserve for us a free nation.

Off The Top Of The Desk

This is the week to watch the skies at night.

The annual Perseids meteor shower, at its height August 11 - 12, and a partial eclipse of the moon August 16 will be visible from most of North America if the weather is clear.

On both occasions, Boston's Museum of Science says, observers should plan to stay up late -- after midnight for the "shooting stars" and close to it for the eclipse.

The meteors are particles of cosmic debris streaking through the skies at speeds of more than 130,000 miles per hour. When the orbits of the earth and the swarm of particles intercept, the particles burn up in the earth's atmosphere. The trails of light observers see are the glowing gases around the particles, not the particles themselves.

There may be as many as 60 flashes per hour in the early hours of August 12. Then the spectacle will gradually diminish, disappearing in four or five days.

The eclipse of the moon will reach a maximum 41 percent of totality at 11:23 p.m. Sunday night.

The moon will first enter the penumbra, or light outer shadow of the earth at 9:06 p.m., but the effect will not be visible until about 10 when a slight shading will appear on the northern edge. After the maximum coverage has occured, the shading will slowly lessen. The moon will leave the penumbra at 1:40 a.m.

According to the Charles Hayden Planetarium at the Museum of Science, this is the last lunar eclipse of 1970. The next one visible in North America will be a total eclipse on February 9, 1971.

Massachusetts automobile drivers are beginning to "wise up" as far as drinking and driving is concerned according to statistics released today by Commissioner of Public Safety William F. Powers.

During the fiscal year 1970 the Massachusetts State Police arrested 621 persons operating motor vehicles under the influence of alcohol compared with 662 durgin the fiscal year 1969. However, in 1970, only 47 percent of those arrested submitted to a breathalyzer test while 49.6 percent were tested in the previous year.

The Massachusetts State Police recently concluded training classes on the use of the breathalyzer equipment and now have 270 qualified operators. There is a breathalyzer in each of the 33 State Police barracks throughout the commonwealth.

During the 1970 fiscal year the State Police also administered the breathalyzer test 718 times at the request of local police departments.

If you enjoy quality fruit, surely you feel guilty when serving it any way but fresh. Many fruits are at their peak during August and September. They often provide an economical buy as well as a good supply of vitamins and minerals. Their delectable appearance and taste is an added bonus that might stimulate lazy appetites.

High quality berries can be served in a fresh pie rather than a cooked one. Use berries and other fruits in mixed compotes for desserts, appetizers or snacks. Garnish entrees with fresh fruits, and try combining fresh fruits and vegetables for tasty salads.

Use the following guidelines when buying fresh fruits: buy in season; buy only what you need; shop carefully avoiding bruised and damaged fruit; buy quality -- learn the quality indicators for your favorite fresh fruit.

To obtain a free copy of the informative bulletin, "How to Buy Fresh Fruits" send your request to Mrs. Helen Earley, Extension Home Economist, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Hathorne, Mass. 01937.

Employment Survey Due

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of August 16, James W. Turbitt, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Boston announced today.

This survey is conducted monthly by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of households throughout the entire United States. The employment and unemployment statistics which are based on the results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation as a whole and of its major regions. Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical results. The law safeguarding the privacy of the individual applies to all information collected by the Census Bureau.

Selectmen Meet

The selectmen, sitting as the licensing board Monday night, granted a hearing to Randall A. Hurley in connection with an expansion program by the Central Cafe, 9-11 Post Office Avenue.

Although Hurley obtained permits from the building inspector and the board of health he did not go to the selectmen for permission to make alterations where a liquor license is involved.

The board continued the matter to the next meeting on Aug. 24 when Hurley will have made the necessary application. He told the board it was a simple oversight on his part.

At the request of Rev. William J. Donnelly, O.S.A. of St. Augustine's parish, the board voted to establish no parking zones on Pearson St. In his petition, Fr. Donnelly pointed out the danger of making turns off Main St. on to Pearson St. He was supported by Police Chief David L. Nicoll.

Other requests granted during the routine session were:

Request from Mary Hayden, Greater Lowell Kennel Club, 231 School St., Groveland, for permission to hold Dog Show at St. Frances Seminary grounds, 459 River Road, on Sunday, Aug. 16.

Request from Cyr Oil Company for a license to keep, store and sell petroleum products in the amount of an additional 9,000 gallons gasoline (unleaded) in an underground tank on the land of the petitioner at 14 North Main Street, corner of Pearson Street.

This request has the approval of the Director of the Public Works Dept. Supt. of the Highway Dept. and Supt. Tree Department.

The board voted to have the town clerk arrange dates with other communities involved for the perambulation of the town bounds.

. . . to print the year-end clearance price on our entire stock of 70 models. But we can mention that the factory cut Torino's price $200* even before we sale-priced it. And we can suggest that right now is a good time to buy since signs point to higher car prices come Fall. So if you'd like to know what kind of a deal you can get . . . and just how much you can save on just the car you want . . . come see us New England Ford Dealers and . . .
we'll tell you anyhow!
